In Another Light.

During the few weeks following the passage of the new tariff bill, till the result of the election was known remarks the American Economist, the press of the country, and particularly the trade journals, printed column after column every issue devoted to announcements of new industries, the organization and reorganization of companies, the starting up of new and old mills. the employment of idle hands, the increase of wages—in short, a new era of prosperity seemed to have been inaugurated. But the Free Trade triumph came, and with it came a reaction in business.

New enterprises were checked, capitalists hesitated before going on. Doubt and fear took the place of confidence. Consequently many enterprises which would to-day have been established or in course of work have either been given up entirely or are awaiting developments. But this is not all, not the worst phase of the matter. Failures and business embarrassments are occurring on every hand.

In a single issue of a Free Trade contemporary last week we noticed over a dozen such misfortunes, and we can expect only a continuance of the same till, in some way, confidence is restored and assurance is given that the ascendancy of the party which is hostile to American interests will be only temporary. This we shall see from week to week, as the benefits arising from the workings of the new bill are seen, and it becomes evident that it will not be changed till its good effects can be made manifest.

The lying tactics of the Free Traders cannot long prevail. Truth will win sooner or later and we trust the present deplorable condition of trade and industry will be but temporary and give way to the confidence inspired by the passage of the tariff law of 1890.

FINANCIAL rumors are flying thick and fast these days, and many people are only too willing to jump at conclusions. Base canards are occasionally mixed in with this kind of talk, and these, more than anything else, serve to weaken the confidence of the people. The result of this groundless fear that something is going t happen cannot be otherwise than bad, and it is time for it to be checked. If not checked it may lead to danger if not disaster. The feeling of the public was forcibly manifested recently by the lightning like rapidity with which the report circulated that Postmaster General Wanamaker had failed. The rumor arrived on an evening train, and in less than an hour it was the chief topic of conversation, many being actually frightened. The canard maker is a criminal, and a severe penalty should be provided to meet his case.

POOR old Cleveland! He has received a harder blow below the belt from the National convention of the Farmers Alliance than has yet been administered to him. The Alliance people say that Cleveland's financial opinions are such that they will not under any circumstances support him for the Presidency. This is significant, and will undoubtedly have considerable effect upon the next democratic national convention. However, that's a good ways off and Mr. Cleveland may change his financial views before then.

The democrats don't talk so much about controlling the United States Senate with republican votes as it did a short time ago. The Senate is all right, and the republicans can be relied upon to support all measures endorsed by the party caucus. They would be queer sort of party men if they couldn't.

THE report of the Nebraska Relief Commission that in twelve counties of the state the crops were a failure, leaving 10,000 families in great destitution, should not be overlooked by those charitably inclined. Although Governor Thayer has bravely suggested that Nebraska ask no aid from her more prosperous sisters of the Union, the fact that there is such extreme want in Nebraska cannot be ignored by the rest of the country.

THE United States Senate could not do a more popular thing than to take up and pass Senator Culloms bill for one cent letter postage. This is one of the few things that everybody favors.

What General Hastings Said.

The "Man About Town" of the New York Star printed the following to-day:

"Standing in the corridor of the Hoffman House the other morning was Gen. D. H. Hastings, whom the Pennsylvania republicans might have made governor of their State this year had they not bowed to Quay's mandate and placed Delamater in the field instead. Hastings seems to have been standing in the shadow of great things for years back without ever having succeeded in getting closer. In the last National Convention he made the speech nominating General Sherman, and would have been Quay's choice for a Cabinet portfolio had the Ohio aspirant captured the Presidency. Next he had notoriety thrust upon him in connection with the Johnstown flood relief fund, of which he had charge, and through which he gained an advantage over all other Gubernatorial candidates, which would have resulted in his nomination had not Quay interposed, for the convention was overwhelmingly for Hastings. Defeat, however, seems only to have whetted his appetite for public place, for when the Chicago folks were looking around for a director general for their fair Hastings entered the lists as a candidate and came out second best Thus, fate seems to have been against him just at the time when all else was favorable, for he is a man of ability and popular among all who know him. I asked him yesterdyy for some explanation of Delamaters defeat, and he replied with a significant smile at Chris Magee, standing by, 'Apathy.' Continuing, he said: 'The Republicans have all the votes they want in Pennsylvania. We have a Blaine majority in 1892. Will it be cast for Blaine? I'm not so sure of that as I am of the figures we will give the Republican candidate, no matter who it is. Personally, I would favor Sherman again, but it is a question whether he will be a candidate. I understand that he won't.

TWENTY-TWO of the twenty-eight cities in Massachusetts held their elections Tuesday and elected officers. The chief points of interest in these local contests is the vote on the liquor question, every city in the State having the right to decide each year whether it will have license or prohibition. The result shows a loss to prohibition. Four cities that voted for it last year changed to license, while only one changed from license to prohibition.

The total vote cast is also a prohibition loss. Last year in nineteen cities there was a prohibition majority of 4875. The Massachusetts method of dealing with this question enables the latest phase of public sentiment to express itself, but it is apt to make a change before either method has had a fair trial.

Two Pennsylvania Representatives and only two, Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Roy, voted against the passage of the international copyright bill. Every other member from this state present voted for the measure, and the sentiment in this State is overwhelming in this direction. When the same measure was before the Senate in 1888 Senator Quay, we are glad to say, voted for it, and we do not doubt that Senator Cameron, if he had been present, would have voted the same way, as he will have an opportunity to do when it comes before the Senate.

IF it be true that a syndicate headed by George W. Childs has purchased the New York World, the sensational features of that paper will probably not be so conspicuous as they have been, and an element which is the special feature of Mr. Child's Philadelphia paper may be expected to make its appearance in the columns of the World.

Our informant from Washington is to the effect that an apportionment bill will certainly be passed at the present session of Congress, and that it will be constructed without democratic aid. This is just as it should be, and anything different would be a disappointment to republicans everywhere.

JAY GOULD is said to be laying wires to control the Farmers' Alliance, in order to get certain legislation for his recently acquired Western railroads.

THE Presidents message does not seem to please the democrats. Well, it probably wasn't written with that intention.

BEN BUTLER vouches for Parnell, but no one has yet been found who is willing to vouch for Ben Butler.

A Lop-Sided Party.

We have no hesitation in declaring that if the effort to transform the Farmers' Alliance into a partisan organization, preparatory to putting a national ticket in the field in 1892, be successful, the Alliance will speedily make shipwreck. It may hold together over one presidential election, and may poll a considerable vote in a few of the western states, though even that is doubtful, but it would cease to be a factor in our politics long before 1896. If, therefore, the men who are at its head wish to maintain its integrity, to add to its influence and to accomplish the large good for their own class and the whole country, they will eschew partisanship, organize no new party, but encourage the members of the alliance to exercise that political independence which consists with the best citizenship, and to cast their votes for those candidates who are most likely to promote by their official action the highest good of the greatest number.

At the very outset of the proposed organization of a political party reflecting farmers are confronted by a suspicious circumstance. The men who have forced themselves to the front in Kansas and other western states, many of them at least, have hitherto been known as democrats or as persons whose ambition the Republican party failed to gratify. These people are all enthusiastic over the proposed new party. They declare that the old parties have proved faithless to the interests of the people and must now give place to the new party which is going to revolutionize our politics and usher in the milenium. But the leaders of the alliance in the south, while patting their northern brethren on the back and wishing them God speed in their endeavors to destroy the republican party in the west, decline to enter into any new political enterprise. They are all democrats and they do not mean to change their political relations at present. They are democrats first and alliance men next, and don't mean to do anything to harm the democratic organization. Judging then from recent developements, the opinion held by some that unscrupulous democratic politicians and their sore-head allies have entered into a conspiracy to destroy the Republican party and bring in a democratic administration, is justified. But the schemers have gone about their work so clumsily and their plot lies so transparently open to public inspection that they will deceive no one who is not willing to be deceived. Republican farmers in the west may well ask why they should be asked to turn upon the party of whose past history they are proud while the democratic allies cling to the old organization. The result will be either an absolute failure to set the new party going, or its disintegration in a very few years. We don't wan't any more parties in this country; We don't wan't to hold those already in existence to a faithful discharge of duty to the whole people.

THE Presidents message is not a skyrocket production. It's just a plain, everyday common-sense statement of the condition of the Government, and of our most pressing needs, in a legislative way. And judging from the way the Senate was buckled down to work on its principal recommendation—the Federal Election bill—it must have struck the right spot.

THE President is neither a crawfish nor a clam; he will not go backward nor remain stationary. 'Forward, double quick, charge', is the command he has issued, and he proposes to keep up the assaults without intermission until a decisive victory shall be won. If there be any men in the ranks who are opposed to figbting they will do well to get to the rear immediately.

Our informant from Washington is to the effects that that the apportionment bill will certainly be passed at the present session of Congress, and it will be constructed without democratic aid. This is just as it should be, and anything different would be a disappointment to Republicans everywhere.

IF the convention of the National Farmers Alliance which met at Ocala, Florida, was not controlled by Southern sentiment its proceedings have been grossly misrepresented. Let's see, didn't somebody say that the Alliance was not a sectional organization?

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, NOV., 24, 1890.

The President is devoting a considerable portion of his time to a careful and comprehensive consideration of our present financial system, in common with many other profound thinkers, believes the country has outgrown. That something is needed he has long ago become convinced, but just what that something is and the best way to obtain it is what has not been decided. It was because no decision had beer arrived at that neither the President's message nor Secretary Windom's annual report contained any specific recommendation on this subject. Whether the President will later send a special financial message to Congress or will with the aid of a Senator and a Representative, embody the result of his thinking in a bill to be simultaneously introduced in House and Senate is as yet problematical. But something must be done soon, for the clamor for more money becomes louder and louder every day, and the believers in a free and unlimited coinage of silver who constitute a majority in Congress, and are growing more and more restless.

The adoption of a resolution condemning the Federal Election bill by the Farmers Alliance convention, at Ocala, might have disconcerted the republicans somewhat if it had not been followed by the positive information that the whole business was put up in this city at a conference of Southern democratic Senators. As it was, it attracted more attention than would the same resolution passed by any other democratic convention.

Congress has lost no time to speak of in its first week. The House has passed the International copyright bill, the regular annual pension appropriation bills, and several others of minor importance, while the Senate is working away at the Federal election bill in a way which indicates that 1891 will still be very young when that measure, slightly modified, shall have become a law of the land.

Senator Stanford has introduced his bill to loan Government money to armers at low rates of interest upon their real estate. He asked that the bill be allowed to lie upon the table until he shall have submitted a few remarks upon it. The Senate Finance committee made unfavorable report upon this bill at the last session, but Mr. Sanford insists that the more thought he devotes to the subject the more he becomes convinced that it is a sound constitutional and practical method of supplying the national need for a sound circulating medium.

No change has yet been made in the Senate rules to limit debate upon the Feberal election bill, and none will be made until the Democrats begin to resort to fillibustering. The republicans have no desire to prevent their opponents exercising every legitimate right in discussing this measure, but they propose to allow no extended fillibustering. There is an interesting rumor floating around the Capitol to the effect that the democratic Senators had decided not to fillibuster against a final vote. This may be taken with a grain of allowance, in fact several of them.

Secretary Noble has been looking pretty closely into business of the pension office of late, and one of the results is that a bill prepared at his request has been introduced in the House by Representative Belknap, of Michigan, reducing the fee of pension attorneys for obtaining increases of pensions from $10 to $1. This has raised a howl among the pension attornies, whose fees for the month of November for increased pension cases alone amounted to $30,000. Secretary Noble says there is no need of an applicant for an increase in pension to employ an attorney and that it is little short of robbery for an attorney to expect a fee of $10—for the nominal service performed in such cases. Mr. Noble is understood to be considering other changes in the methods of doing business with the pension office that will be beneficial to the country and to the deserving pensioners.

The country has long ago become convinced that Mr. Blaine is one of the ablest, if not the ablest Secretary of State we have ever had, and the correspondence in the Barrundia affair, which resulted in the recall of Minister Mizner, just submitted to Congress, adds another proof to the strong ones already existing of Mr. Blaine's aptitude in dealing with complicated international questions. Democratic Congressmen vie with republicans in complimenting Mr. Blaine for his management of this matter. Ex-Governor Pacheco, of California, has been renominated Minister to the Central America States to succeed Mr. Mizner.

The House Census committee has practically agreed upon an apportionment bill making the membership of the House 356, an increase of 24.

Senator Paddock on Saturday presented to the Senate the protest of the convention of the National Farmers' Alliance against the passage of the Conger lard bill. It is believed that the Senate will pass Mr. Paddock's Pure Food bill as a substitute for the lard bill.

WITHOUT THE "HELLO".

The Bell Company to Put in a System of Private Telephones.

It is probable that the Bell Telephone company will in a short time, offer for sale instruments which may be used without the intervention of a central office. It is stated by those who have information of the inside affairs of the company that without disadvantage to exchange business many telephones could be placed apart from the central office, that otherwise would not be used and, to meet this demand, the company has for a number of month's been engaged in perfecting an instrument that may be operated without a battery. Such a telephone would depend upon its action solely on the variation of conductivity effected by the compression of a piece of carbon. This was the principal of the original telephone and, by its refinement, it is now declared possible to construct an instrument, which, by the induction of a current in a coil about a magnate, will be able to reproduce at a considerable distance words spoken in an ordinary tone of voice without the additional aid of a battery.

Before the American Bell telephone made its last raid there was at least 1,000 telephones in use in Philadelphia which had no central connection, and were alleged to be operated in violation of the company's rights. The statement comes from official sources that there are still several hundred such instruments in use whose presence is no loss to the company. These instruments are expensive and inefficient, and it is with a view to replacing them with gain to the owners of the patent rights that the Bell company is considering the question of placing on sale an easily operated instrument.

In Other Counties.

Tuesday morning a boy named William Breekner, aged about 6 years, fell under a larry, at Mammoth, Westmoreland county, and had both arms cut off near the shoulder.

Gilvanni Rucci, a laborer, about 55 years of age, was struck by a train at Walls station at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The body was taken to Pittsburg and the coroner notified. The man was in the employ of the Westinghouse Water Company.

Joseph Fink, an employe of the rod mill at New Castle, met with an accident just before noon Tuesday which will probably prove fatal. He was standing under a crane while some rolls were being moved, when a heavy weight fell and hit him on the head, fracturing his skull and knocking him senseless.

Daniel Cusic, a McKeesport railroad conductor, and Miss Nannie, an adopted daughter of Dr. Black, of McKeesport, suddenly disappeared from home last week. It has just been disclosed that they went to Johnstown, N. Y., where they were married. They have returned to McKeysport to reside.

The 7.40 train Monday night for Bethlehem, on the Reading Railroad, was thrown from the track just after leaving Green Mount, and ran about 100 feet over the ties, stopping at the very brink of the trestle over the Wingohocking creek, 50 feet high. None of the passengers were injured. A switch had been tampered with and this caused the derailment.

THE public has more than once been horror struck by the callous indifference with which vessels in distress have been passed or abandoned after collisions. Under the legislation of the present Congress President Harrison has issued a proclamation making this in future a penal offense to both captain and vessel.

SECRETARY Windom's annual report shows how little foundation there was for the democratic ante-election stories of a deficit in the National Treasury, but of course the stories will continue to travel in democratic circles.

IT remains to be seen whether the Farmers' Alliance proposes to allow itself to be used as the tail for the Democratic kite in 1892.

THE PAN-REPUBLIC CONGRESS.

Cardinal Gibbons Says the Movement is One of Broad Patriotism.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 9.—The following letter from Cardinal Archbishop Gibbons in relation to the proposed Pan-Republic congress has just been given to the press:

To William H. Arnoux, Esq., Chairman of the Sub-Committee of the Pan-Republic Congress:

MY DEAR SIR—You have been good enough to invite me to a meeting of the sub-committee of the Pan-Republic congress to be held in New York during the month of December, and I beg to thank you for the same. My engagements, I regret to say, make it impossible for me to be present in person, but in my enforced absence I have appointed a gentleman to represent me on the interesting occasion.

From the documents accompanying the invitation I gather that the congress will assemble for the purpose of drawing the republics of the world into closer bonds of sympathy, and of discussing such subjects of legislation as shall be for their mutual benefit and the further progress and welfare of mankind.

Such a movement cannot fail to commend itself most heartily to every citizen of this the first republic of the world. It is one of broad patriotism. It will, as I trust, strike down the barriers which separate nation from nation and race from race. It will bring the peoples of the world together—first, by commercial, and as a consequence by social ties, and thus widen and deepen and elevate that conception of the brotherhood of man which has been for ages the dream of great minds and the desire of great hearts.

It behooves us all, in our several spheres, to labor for this great consummation, and I look with satisfaction upon the first step to be taken in that direction in the assembling of the Pan-Republic congress. J. CARDINAL GIBBONS,
Archbishop of Baltimore.

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

Unparalleled Official Plundering Unearthed and Another Outbreak Feared.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Dispatches from Buenos Ayres state that a feeling of disquiet reigns in the city and throughout the Republic, and that fears are entertained of another outbreak. The police have been armed with Remington rifles. The public are disgusted with the financial situation and with the accumulating evidence of astounding frauds perpetrated under the former regime, and a party is gradually growing which advocates the repudiation of a foreign indebtedness.

The latest developed frauds are of the most overwhelming character and unparalleled in financial history. The provincial bank of Santa Fe was plundered of $7,000,000 by one man. It is reported that beneficiaries of plunder under the Celman regime are quietly leaving the country with the vast profits of their operations, and President Pelligrini's government is blamed for not taking more active steps to bring the rascals to justice. The whole community seems to take a hopeless view of affairs, in striking contrast to the lavish and buoyant extravagance of former days.

He Died with His Boots On.

NAVAJO SPRINGS, Ariz., Dec. 9.—A shooting affray occurred Saturday resulting in the death of Bud Blake, one of the most feared desperadoes in this section. Blake rode into town Saturday afternoon, and after filling up with "tanglefoot" proceeded to shoot right and left. After terrorizing the citizens he rode across the country in the direction of St. Johns. About two miles from here he encountered two telegraph operators—R. L. Alexander and R. L. Cotton—returning from an antelope hunt. Riding up within fifty yards he called upon them to throw up their hands, and received an immediate response in the shape of a volley from a Winchester in the hands of Mr. Alexander and Mr. Cotton's six shooter. Blake was fatally wounded and died in a few minutes.

Another Snag for Sara Althea.

FRENSO, Cal., Dec. 9.—Sara Althea has run against another bit of hard luck in her struggle to recover the property of Judge Terry. One of the valuable properties was a whole section near this town worth $32,000, on which there was a mortgage of $10,000. Recently the administrator secured the right to sell this and other property, in doing which his lawyer had his face slapped by Sara Althea, who opposed the sale. When it came to sell this section it was found that Terry's title was not perfect, and the land was still government land. Two Frenso men at once jumped the land and a contest will be made. There is small chance of recovering it. The Frenso bank will also lose its $10,000.

Fired by Natural Gas.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 9.—Suddenly increased pressure of gas in the natural gas main supplying fuel to the Continental Tube Works company, located on Second avenue, blew a stopcock out of the pipe connected with a stove in the machine department Monday morning. Watchman Campbell was seriously burned in his repeated attempts to replace the broken valve and save his employers' property. The flames got beyond his control and damaged the machine department, oil ware house and pattern department to the extent of $30,000. Fully insured.

Found a Leg in the Ruins.

JOLIET, Ills., Dec. 9.—The workmen engaged in removing the debris where the catastrophe at the blast furnace of the Illinois Steel company occurred Thursday were horrified yesterday by the discovery of the leg of a man. There is no body to match it, and the conclusion is inevitable that there is another body in the ruins of the collapsed furnace. One of the injured, Orluf Johnson, died yesterday, making the ninth victim.

[illegible] for the King and Queen.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A dispatch from Rome says that the cardinal archbishop of Naples has removed a priest because he prayed for the king and queen of Italy at mass.

Mrs. Carnegie's Condition.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Andrew Carnegie's condition today is much improved, and her physicians now entertain strong hopes of her recovery.

The Family Narrowly Escaped.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Dec. 9.—The residence of Frederick Schoonfeld was burned, the family of seven having a narrow escape from death.

OF NATIONAL INTEREST.

Congress Authorizes the Issue of Arms to Resist the Hostiles.

SENATOR STANFORD'S BILL.

As Introduced It Is Almost Identical with the Bill to Establish a Land Loan Bureau in the Treasury Department—Census Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—In the house Friday, after a brief discussion, the senate joint resolution authorizing the secretary of war to issue 1,000 stands of arms to each of the states of North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska was amended so as to include the state of Montana and passed. The house then went into committee of the whole on the pension appropriation bill.

Mr. Stanford introduced in the senate a bill to provide the government with means sufficient to supply the national want of a sound circulation medium, and asked that it lie on the table, as he wished to submit some remarks upon it. (This is almost identical with the bill to establish a land loan bureau in the treasury department, introduced by Mr. Stanford, May 20, ult.)

House bill was passed authorizing the Lake Charles Road and Bridge company, of Lake Charles, La., to construct bridges across English bayou and Calcasieu river.

Senate bill for certain bridges across the Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois rivers was taken from the calendar and discussed for an hour, when Mr. Hoar interposed an objection, and the bill went over. The elections bill was then taken up, and Mr. Gray addressed the senate in opposition.

The New York Census.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The house committee on the eleventh census gave a hearing to a delegation from New York city who appeared to urge a new census enumeration of that city, as asked in resolutions introduced in the house by Representatives Cummings and Flower.

John M. Bowers, of New York, acted as spokesman of the delegation. He began his remarks by reading Representative Flower's resolution. He referred to the different acts of congress by which the census has been taken since 1790 up to the present time, and argued on the facilities for investigation under them. When the census office announced the census of this city, he said, it was a disappointment, but it was not doubted until brought to the attention of the board of health by the death rate. The police enumeration was then ordered.

Mr. Bowers here presented the affidavits of reporters of The Sun, Herald and World, stating that they had tabulated the police returns and that they were correct as presented to the census office. The census of the Second ward, as shown by the federal census, was 927, and the police enumeration gave it a population of 1,340.

Porter Will Answer Bowers.

Mr. Bowers here presented the affidavits of about 400 persons, residents of the Second ward, who swore that they had not been enumerated by the federal enumerators. They had a complete case in the Second ward, he said, and the difference in the other wards certainly justifies a new enumeration.

In reply to a question he said that the Second ward was selected because it was small and could be enumerated quickly and accurately, which was necessary in this case.

Mr. Bowers read from reports of the house committee on judiciary as precedents where new enumerations had been allowed: the cases of California, Nebraska and Montgomery county, Md.; and the case of New York, he said, was much stronger than any of these.

Owing to a case he had before the supreme court Mr. Bowers was unable to conclude his argument and the committee adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when he will be given an hour more. Superintendent Porter was present and wished to speak. He will answer Mr. Bowers tomorrow.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The president sent to the senate several recess nominations and the following: Romual do Pacheco, of California, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Central American States; William Monaghan, of Ohio, to be consul of the United States at Milton, Canada.

To be collectors of customs—Sherman A. Johnson, of District of Columbia, for the district of Georgetown, D. C.; Alexander R. Fithian, of New Jersey, for the district of Bridgeton, N. J.

The World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The city council adopted an ordinance authorizing the issue of $5,000,000 of municipal bonds in aid of the World's fair. Four-fifths of the total amount will be of $1,000 each and the remaining million $500 each. The bonds will be dated Jan. 1, 1891, payable in thirty days and bear interest at 4 per cent. No bonds will be sold until the exposition directory collects $3,000,000 on its stock. It is provided that the city shall be repaid from the proceeds of the Fair to an equal extent with the stockholders, and the city's proportion be devoted to the redemption of the bonds. The privilege of redeeming the bonds before maturity is reserved on condition of paying a premium of 5 per cent. and giving ninety days' notice.

The Argentine Crisis.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Rothschilds' letter conveying the report of the Argentine committee to the governor of the Bank of England, says that Herr Hahseman and M. Anvers, who left the committee on Tuesday, took a more sanguine view than the other committeemen, in that they wanted to advocate advancing the money to pay the next semester's coupons. The writer of The Times' financial article says he believes that Dr. Plaza, the Argentine expert who is in London superintending Argentine finances, has advised his government to accept the committe's offer.

One of the Crew Drowned.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 6.—Schooner Spartan, from Baltimore for Providence, arrived here and reports that when off Block island her spanker boom sheet parted and carried overboard one of the crew, who was drowned. Albert Peterson, a sailor, was struck on the head by a sheet block and seriously hurt.

FATAL FIRE AT PITTSBURG.

A Falling Wall Kills One Man—Several Others Badly Injured.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—The fire which originated in the third story of No. 917 Liberty street at 12:45 o'clock Friday morning burned until after 3 o'clock. The six-story buildings Nos. 917 and 919 Liberty street, occupied by E. Maginn as wholesale storage for pyrotechnics and confections, were burned to the ground. Nos. 913 and 915, occupied by the Harris Drug company, and Nos. 919, 921 and 923 were partially destroyed.

Losses and insurance—Harris drug store building, belonging to Hays estate; loss, $15,000; Harris' on contents, $150,000; insurance, $90,000. Maginn building, owned by King estate, $20,000; Maginn's loss, $125,000, fully insured. Jenkinson building and contents, loss, $95,000, fully insured. Young, Mayhood, oil, paints, etc.; loss, $20,000.

The Seventh Avenue hotel is directly opposite the scene of the fire. At the second alarm the guests in the hotel were aroused. Notwithstanding the efforts of the hotel management the greatest excitement prevailed; half dressed men and women carrying sachels and wearing apparel crowded and fought their way down the stairs. Several moments elapsed before the guests could be made to understand there was no immediate danger.

Fireman Elmer Fisley, of engine company No. 11, was killed by a falling wall. His body was recovered. The following were injured by the same wall: Chief Evans, badly bruised, two ribs broken; Aug. Winter, of No. 7, and John Shefferth, of No. 11, badly bruised; John S. Ellem, of No. 11, badly bruised and one arm broken, and Edward Adolph, foreman, one arm broken and badly bruised. Several other firemen were severely bruised, but continued at work.

At 3:30 o'clock the flames broke out in the cellar of the drug house, caused by barrels of oil igniting. No damage could be done, and the fire burned itself out.

DELAMATER'S BANK SUSPENDS.

The Failure Said to Be a Very Disastrous One.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 6.—At 9 o'clock Friday morning the following notice was posted on the doors of the banking house of Delamater & Co., this city:

"Bank closed. Delamater & Co. have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. V. M. Delamater, cashier."

The firm is composed of George B., George W. and T. A. Delamater, and the assignees are George W. Haskins and John O. McClintock, attorneys, of this city. The assignment will not materially affect the other banks, and there has as yet been no run on any of them, although the residents of the city are panic stricken. The liabilities are estimated at $200,000. A well known financier said to a United Press reporter: "I know whereof I speak when I say that the failure is a very disastrous one."

An Important Convention.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—A convention of the coal miners of central Pennsylvania, comprising the counties of Centre, Clearfield, Cambria, Blair, Bedford, Huntington and Jefferson, has been called to meet at Altoona next Wednesday to consider a proposition to establish a fund to pay the wages of check weighmen at the mines, and to vote on the advisability of demanding a general advance in the price of mining on Jan. 1. The convention will be one of the most important ever held in central Pennsylvania, as a strike, if ordered, would affect 20,000 men. It would also seriously interfere with ocean steamships, the bulk of the seaboard coal mined coming from this district.

A Bad Decision for the Wabash.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 6.—Judge Woods, of the federal court, granted a writ of assistance to the Chicago and Erie Railway company in procuring from the Wabash 100 miles of track from Hammond to Laketon. The Wabash claimed the track under a lease from the Chicago and Atlantic, which has become the Chicago and Erie, and obtained an injunction to prevent the latter from depriving it of the use of that section of track leading into Chicago. The decision leaves the Wabash without a Chicago entrance. Judge Woods holds that the relations of laudlord and tenant under the Indiana law cannot exist between railroad corporations.

Nichols, formerly assistant postmaster of Berrien Springs, was sentenced to imprisonment for two years and fined $482.78 in the United States court yesterday for embezzling postal money orders while he was in office. He is a young man of one of the best families in Berrien, and stole to pay gambling debts.

A Swindler and a Forger.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Karl Eichler, of Parchim, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, has swindled the Anglo-German Bank of Hamburg out of 120,000 marks by means of forged drafts and has absconded. It is thought that he will endeavor to escape to America.

The Upper Mississippi Closed.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Dec. 6.—All traffic has ceased on the upper Mississippi, the present cold snap having filled the river with floating ice. The thermometer is falling, and if the present weather continues a solid ice bridge will be formed in a day.

Her Injuries Were Expensive.

GLADSTONE CONSULTED.

Redmond, Sexton, Healy and Leamy Meet the Liberal Leader.

AWAITING THE OUTCOME.

The Nationalists Adjourns to Hear the Result of the Conference—Cardinal Manning Says Parnell Should Go on Political Grounds Alone.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Messrs. Redmond, Sexton, Healy and Leamy, on behalf of the Irish Nationalist conference, had a consultation with Mr. Gladstone Friday. Previous to this meeting Mr. Gladstone had been visited by Mr. John Morley, Sir Vernon Harcourt, Earl Spencer and Lord Granville.

The Irish Nationalist conference met, but the consideration of the business before it was postponed pending the return of Messrs. Redmond, Sexton, Healy and Leamy, who had been appointed a committee to confer with Mr. Gladstone.

At 4 o'clock the Irish Nationalist conference reassembled. The committee appointed to wait upon Mr. Gladstone to ascertain how far that gentleman in the event of a Liberal victory in the impending general elections would go in the direction of the granting of material concessions to the Irish party immediately appeared and reported progress.

The majority of the Nationalists who waited upon Mr. Gladstone are fully satisfied with the assurances given by the Liberal leader that he will make an honest effort to successfully cope with the Irish constabulary and land question.

A Liberal Member's Views.

A Liberal member of the house of commons who represents a heavy manufacturing district in southwestern England, and who is a man noted for the moderation of his views on the Irish question, today said:

"You have undoubtedly observed that the members of my party have very generally been content to treat this miserable business as an essentially 'Irish stew.' Mr. Gladstone has been referred to as being 'garrulous.' All men know who care to know that no one can feel a deeper interest in the solution of the Irish trouble; all men know, too, that no one has been more reticent in discussing their present phases than has he. He is an excellent example for his followers to imitate."

After some hesitation and much further pressing the English commoner said: "As the matter stands this morning, there is the unhappy circumstance of Mr. Parnell's relation to the wife of his late friend as exploited in a divorce court; the manifesto of the Irish Catholic hierarchy; the aroused anger and wounded pride of the English Liberals, and the apparent desire of the majority of the Irish parliamentarians to force Mr. Parnell from the leadership, on one side.

Parnell's Magnificent Audacity.

"On the other hand there is the undoubted ability and magnificent audacity of the Irish leader; the wonderful loyalty of a fighting minority, whose integrity of purpose I certainly cannot question, and, more than all else, the possession of the present Irish organization, or what you would perhaps call the 'machine,' which has been making its voice loudly heard on both sides of the Atlantic. I should myself consider the percentage of chances to be against Mr. Parnell.

"Of course, if he is prepared in the last analysis of the problem with which he finds himself confronted to place himself at the head of an Irish insurrectionary force, as has been hoped by Mr. Finerty of Chicago, he would perhaps do, rather than yield his ambitions or wait the growth of liberal English ideas on Irish affairs. Nothing more can be done than to wait for the roar of Irish artillery among the hills of Kerry."

Cardinal Manning's Stand.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Chronicle publishes an interview with Cardinal Manning in which he says his opinion is admirably expressed by the manifesto issued by the Irish hierarchy, which he believes will gain in influence because it took due time to consider the question before issuing a manifesto. He thought the manifesto would carry great weight both in Ireland and in America.

He agreed entirely with the views it expressed politically and morally, but Parnell's retirement should be made compulsory on moral grounds, politics being a secondary consideration. Parnell's followers, however, were justified in demanding his resignation on political grounds alone.

Welcome to King Kalakaua.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The United States cruiser Charleston came into port yesterday with King Kalakaua, of Hawaii, on board. The Charleston on passing Alcatraz island was greeted by a royal salute of twenty-one guns in honor of King Kalakaua. As the warship passed up the harbor many ships dipped their flags. Gen. Gibbon, commanding the division of the Pacific, and Hawaiian Consul McKinley met the Charleston on the government steamer Governor McDowell, boarded her and welcomed the king to the city. His majesty came ashore and was escorted to the Palace hotel by Gen. Gibbon and staff, in full uniform. At the hotel the king was met by Governor Waterman, Mayor Pond and other officials and prominent citizens. Col. McFarlane, the king's chamberlain, said the king would remain in California for five or six weeks and would not go east. The king's eyes are only slightly troubled, but enough so to make it probable that the services of an oculist will be required during his stay. Before Kalakaua left Honolulu he issued a proclamation providing for the control of the nation during his absence, in which he appointed his sister, Princess Liliuokalant, regent.

To Be Thrown Open to Settlement.

ASHLAND, Wis., Dec. 6.—Several thousand acres of land, mostly covered with valuable timber, will be thrown open for settlement on Dec. 20, when Congressman McCord's bill goes into effect. The act restores to the public domain, subject to entry under the homestead law, certain lands that had been withdrawn from the market for reservoir purposes. A part of the first section of the bill says that the lands shall be subject to homestead entry only at the land offices at Ashland, Eau Claire and Wausau. Several hundred squatters are now on the land. Some of them have been there for a year or more. Their prior residence, however, gives them no right to the land. Whoever files first has the best claim.

SPENDTHRIFT PRICE'S DEATH.

Nineteen Philadelphia Charitable Institutions Will Profit by It.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—The remains of E. Dunbar Price, the noted clubman, "spendthrift of two continents," and principal in a famous divorce suit, who died at the Marlborough hotel in New York, have arrived here for interment.

The important public interest attaching to the demise of Mr. Price lies in the fact that the income of fully $500,000 will pass by the will of his grandfather, Elon Dunbar, to nineteen of the principal charitable institutions of Philadelphia. An equal amount will go in fee simple through several generations of Mr. Dunbar's collateral descendants.

This division of the estate was to come to pass under the grandfather's will, Elon Dunbar dying in 1887, in case there should be no descendants of the testator living at the end of twenty-one years, or in case all should die before that time. The direct line ended in the man who died yesterday, as he left no children.

His wife, to whom he was married in 1881, and from whom he was formally separated in 1887, lives quietly here in a house purchased for her by her father; and with her former husband's death her claims upon the estate, which have been $900 monthly under the articles of separation, all cease.

HIS BODY GROUND TO PIECES.

A Conductor Killed in a Wreck Caused by a Sleepy Switchman.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 6.—The signal man at the switch tower at the junction of the West Jersey and Atlantic City railroad turned a switch leading into a blind siding used for derailing trains and to avoid collisions at this junction, and the Salem freight plunged across the tracks. The engine turned on its side and nearly buried itself in the soft sand, the cars behind piling on top of the engine and completely blocking the four tracks of both roads.

At the time of the accident the conductor was standing in the cab of the engine with the engineer and fireman. The latter two jumped and landed safely, but Conductor Samuel Leap sprang from the opposite side, and as he did so the car following the engine forged past the tender and toppled over on him. He was dragged along the track and ground to pieces. His head was found in one place and parts of the body in another.

It is supposed the switchman was asleep, and being suddenly awakened by the whistle of the engine turned the wrong lever.

Big Money Offered the Cherokees.

TAHELEQUA, I. T., Dec. 6.—The United States commission met again yesterday with the Cherokee commission to continue negotiations for the purchase of the Cherokee outlet for the government. The government commission made its formal proposition to purchase, and stated definite terms as follows: The Indians are to sell the land outright and relinquish all their claims and titles, and are to receive for it $7,528,442, to be paid in cash, or to be held in trust for them by the government at 5 per cent., the terms of the agreement not to become operative until congress shall have appropriated the money. The Cherokees received the offer, and the meeting adjourned to allow them to consider the proposition in private. It is understood that the Indians will make a counter proposition.

To Review Governor Hill's Action.

ALBANY, Dec. 6.—Governor Hill and Adjt. Gen. Porter have been notified by Col. Gardiner, of New York, counsel for Company I, Twenty-second regiment, that on Dec. 11 he will apply for a writ of certiorari answerable before Judge O'Brien in the supreme court, New York city, when the action of the governor, as commander-in-chief, will be reviewed. The paper states that Capt. Leo, of said company, was deprived of his office and his command without reason. Attorney General Tabor will answer the writ. The decision will be looked forward to with much interest, as it will determine the right of the governor to disband troops.

Tragedian O'Conor Stranded.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 6.—James Owen O'Conor, the eminent tragedian, is stranded in this place, with his company and properties at the City hotel. The histrionic abilities of Mr. O'Conor have been so ill appreciated on his recent western tour that he has been forced to retire temporarily from the stage. Two weeks' pay is due the members of the company. They have no money with which to procure tickets for New York. Mr. O'Conor says that he has lost $7,000 during the past three months, and attributes his misfortune to the poor management of his business man, Wilkes Booth Sessions.

Think They've Got Tascott.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 6.—A brief dispatch was received here yesterday from Glenwood Springs stating that two Chicago detectives had arrested Clarence Ziller, a ranchman living near Meeker, charging him with being Tascott. He is said to be in confinement in Meeker, awaiting the next stage to Glenwood. Meeker has no telegraph, and no particulars are obtainable.

A Catholic Church Burned.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—St. Mary's Catholic church, of Homestead, Father Bullion pastor, was destroyed by fire Friday morning, together with the parochial residence, a dwelling occupied by Sisters of Mercy, and the dwelling houses of two men named Veilheimer and H. B. Ecleson. The total loss is $25,000. The fire originated in the basement of the church.

A Big Lumber Deal.

ASHLAND, Wis., Dec. 6.—A St. Paul syndicate of lumbermen is negotiating for the purchase of 250,000,000 feet of stumpage near this city. The price per thousand to be paid is said to have been agreed upon, and the deal will be consummated as soon as the estimates on amount of stumpage are accepted. The deal will involve about $1,000,000.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 6.—Stoughton Ross, eldest brother of the missing Charlie Ross, died at East Orange last night of typhoid fever.

THE COLORED ALLIANCE.

It Differs with the Farmers' Alliance on the Lodge Bill.

THE LARD BILL DENOUNCED.

A Resolution That It Would Work Injustice and Oppression to Seventy-five Thousand Negro Cottonseed Oil Laborers Unanimously Adopted.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 6.—At a meeting of the National Colored Alliance a resolution was offered reciting that the Farmers' Alliance aimed at the improvement of the condition of the farmers, industrially, morally and socially, and condemning the action of the white Alliance convention in passing a resolution yesterday in opposition to the federal elections bill, because such action had no reference whatever to the aims and purposes of the organization, and was calculated to check the growth and influence of the Alliance.

The resolution was discussed at some length. The opinions expressed were not so much in favor of the Federal election bill as in condemnation of the white Alliance for going out of its way to meddle in politics. The resolution will undoubtedly be adopted.

A resolution was introduced by Delegate Patillo, of North Carolina, concerning the Conger lard bill, which recites the injustice and oppression of the measure now before congress. After a long preamble the resolution closes as follows:

Therefore favoring the doctrine of equal rights for all and special privileges for none, and being opposed to the abuse and prostitution of the taxing power of the government, and the enactment of class legislation by which industry is fostered and built up at the expense of another, we protest against the passage of the Conger lard bill, while in the interest of public health and morals, and to secure pure food and pure drugs, we favor and pray for the passage of the Paddock pure food bill.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Would Affect 75,000 Negroes.

The Colored Alliance speakers claimed that there are 75,000 negroes employed in the production of cottonseed oil, and that if the Conger bill passed it would deprive them of their wages.

Owing to the difficulty in securing information from the National Alliance the position of President Hall, of the Missouri alliance, on the elections bill resolution was misstated in Wednesday's press report. The alliance press committee requests the publication of the following:

"Mr. U. S. Hall, president of the State Alliance of Missouri, made a strong speech in favor of the resolution condemning the Lodge bill. After the resolution was duly carried and without a single person expressing himself personally opposed to it, Mr. Hall moved to reconsider the resolution, which motion being seconded he then moved to table the motion to reconsider, and this motion being carried the resolution was carried never to be reconsidered, and the order was thus unalterably committed against the bill."

Steamers Collide.

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 6.—The steamer Gen. Cadwalader, Capt. Iler, of Baltimore, ran into the steamer Gulf Stream, Capt. Hines, from Richmond to Philadelphia, early Friday morning in the thick weather on the Delaware river, off this city. The Cadwalader was bound to Baltimore and struck the Gulf Stream amidships, port side, starting her sheets above and below the water line. When the Cadwalader backed out the Gulf Stream made water rapidly, and Capt. Hines ran his vessel aground on upper end of Chester island, where she now lies in a favorable position. She had a cargo of general merchandise and lighters are now at work lightering her so as to float her and make repairs. The damage to her cargo will not be known until it is removed. The Cadwalader had her bow stem bent, sheets started and waists torn away, but all above the water line. Capt. Iler ran his vessel on the island, where he made temporary repairs and proceeded this morning for Baltimore. It has not yet been learned who is to blame, if there is any blame.

A FREE FIGHT IN COURT.

Everybody Except the Judge Joins In, but Nobody Badly Hurt.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., Dec. 6.—Judge Blake's court was the scene yesterday of an exciting free fight, in which Mayor Clough, Attorneys Turner, Graves and Flynn and officers of the court participated. The fight was the result of a case involving a conflict of authority of the city and judicial authorities. Mayor Clough was arrested for contempt of court. Charles S. Voorhees, attorney for the city, in addressing the court said that it was an outrage that the mayor should be summarily arrested on a charge the penalty of which was imprisonment in the penitentiary. Attorney George Turner retorted that it might have been better for the city if the whole municipal government had been in the penitentiary for the last two years.

After court adjourned Mayor Clough approached Turner. Turner struck Clough, and the mayor was knocked down. Turner jumped on the prostrate man. Thereupon everybody except the judge rushed in, and confusion generally reigned. Finally the combatants were separated, and it was found that nobody had been hurt much.

Hostiles Sleeping on Their Arms.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A special dispatch from Pine Ridge agency says the situation has not materially changed. The hostile Rosebud Indians sleep upon their arms, prepared constantly for an attack. They have three lines of signal couriers between this agency and their camp, and any movement of the troops would be known in a few moments. They have taken all they wish of the government beef herd and burned the buildings and corrals. They are living high and are happy. They have moved to the edge of the Bad Lands. Military preparations proceed rapidly. Unless the Indians come in within a few days the troops will be equipped and in position, when an advance may be ordered.

Treasurers Little's Shortage.

VANDALIA, Ills., Dec. 6.—The committee appointed by the board of supervisors, now in session, to investigate ex-County Treasurer Little's books, has made a final report, showing the total deficit to be $10,830, of which sum $1,399 is chargeable to the unknown and minor heir fund. Little resigned his office last September, and a hasty investigation at that time showed his shortage to be but a little over $7,000.

A Life of Lifts.

Lewistown Journal.

Judge Morrison, of Philips, wrote in reply to a man who wished to sell him a health-lifting machine that he didn't believe he needed one, as he had lifted rocks enough off of his farm to sink the largest navy afloat, and had handled lumber enough to Shingle Hades a mile.

For lighter exercise I have built one or two miles of stone wall, cleared one or two hundred acres of land, with twenty years of law practice and fifteen years of politics sandwhiched in.

Then I spent over two years in Uncle Sam's service in the war of the rebellion rode three horses to death and lifted the usual amount of rations necessary to keep a trooper in good condition. I remember once of having command of fifty raiders and scouring through several counties of Southern Alabama. In one week we lifted between three and four hundred head of cattle, turned them over to the commissary and they went to eke out the rations of 20,000 blue-bellied Yankees. Then later I served six years on the Maine Republican State Committee, and had not a little experience in lifting candidates into office, owing to the ponderousness of some of these candidates and the activity of our opponents it has many times required a long pull and a pull altogether to hoist them in.

In Other Counties.

Mayor Keller, of Williamsport, has issued instructions to his police to arrest all persons who use profane or vulgar language on the streets.

A disease known as influenza is prevailing among the horses in Clinton county. A number of farmers in that region are suffering heavy losses.

Michael Madigan, of Ridgeway, was killed on Wednesday, by a train on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road, bound north. He lived about three hours after the accident and died in Ridgeway.

The Houtzdale correspondent of the Clearfield Spirit says: A sad and fatal accident occurred at Sterling mines last Friday, resulting in the almost instant death John L. Murray. While undermining the top gave way, and before the unfortunate man could extricate himself the heavy fall came upon him.

Clearfield Spirit: Aug. Barthoit, of Covington township, shot a snow owl in the woods near Shawbell landing on Tuesday last. The bird measured five feet six inches from tip to tip and was extremely large. It is said to be the only owl of this kind ever seen in this vicinity. The feathers were snow white mixed with gray, and as soft as silk.

December Weather.

Cold days will succeed until the reactionary movements on the 11th and 12th when softer skies and southerly winds will bring reactionary storms. All must remember that from this date our globe passes into the winter solstice disturbances. Winter storms until near the close of the month will be due at any time.

The next regular period, however, is from the 14 to 27th. The equinox of Mercury on the 18th, with moon's first quarter on the same date, and earth about the crisis of winter solstice will necessitate a continuance of this period, with snow and sleet—look for heavy sleet—past the reactionary days, the 22d and 23d. Almost beyond peradventure heavy winter gales and storms will occur about this time.

The 17th, 18th and 19th we mention as central danger days, which dates, with the reactionary 22d and 23d, promise storms on sea and land to a degree that ought to excite the most prudent care and watchfulness. Much hard freezing will follow the storms at these times. The full moon on the 25th ought to rise on the rim of a cold Christmas night, underspread with wide and deep expanses of fresh snow, sleet and ice.

About the 27th Boreas will relax his grip, which change in temperature will begin in the west and move steadily eastward attended by thawing, and resulting in renewed storms of rain and snow on and next to the 28th, 29th and 30th. For the most part, December will close with good winter prevailing in the northern hemisphere.

BRIEF MENTION.

Kansas City detectives are puzzled over the robbery of Mrs. Kirk B. Armour's diamonds valued at $10,000, which mysteriously disappeared from the safe deposit vaults where they were stored.

Abram H. Reynolds, a prominent citizen of the Wyoming Valley, died at Kingston, Pa., aged 72 years.

The report of the attorney general of the United States says that claims against the government amounting to $2,000,000 have been settled during the year. He speaks of the difficulty of enforcing the law of the land where murders are committed to stop prosecutions in the Federal court, and argues that congress should provide for the enforcement of all laws.

It having been found that Miss Josephine Demling, of Pittsburg, Pa., perjured herself in swearing that she had seen Miss Catharine Wenzel, aged 17, with a stolen watch, the two girls will exchange places in the reform school. They were rivals in a love affair.

The commission appointed by Governor Thayer, of Nebraska, to investigate the crop failure report that there was a total failure of crops in twelve counties, and that 10,000 families are in need of assistance.

The receipt of some of the Koch lymph by Professor Crittenden, of Yale, at New Haven, caused the greatest excitement. Three persons only were treated, although many more clamored for the boon. In one case the symptoms noted were similar to those met with in the clinics in Berlin.

Miss Emma Pfitzenmyer, a comely German girl of 22 years, was mysteriously murdered in the home of her brother-in-law, Harry F. Schmidt, 714 Edgemont avenue, Chester, Pa., on her return from a ball. Her throat was cut, and the physicians have discovered six different knife thrusts.

Owing to the neglect of the borough of Cape May Point, N. J., to reincorporate under the new borough act last spring, the place is without a government, and as no taxes can be collected the school fund is entirely exhausted, necessitating the closing of the public schools this week.

A Surprise to Portugal.

LISBON, Dec. 6.—Yesterday's news from Cape Town reporting that a Portuguese force had seized Mutacas Kraal at Manica, in South Africa, and lowered the British flag, replacing it with that of Portugal, was a surprise to the Portuguese government. The affair was not the outcome of any instructions sent out by the home authorities, or the Mozambique company, for all instructions issued by them to their agents in South Africa were intended to have a directly opposite effect from what has been the case in this instance. The belief here is that instructions had failed to reach Manica on Nov. 8, the date of the alleged affair.

Destitution in Kansas.

ATCHISON, Kan., Dec. 6.—John Cox, of Rawlins county, Kan., is in the city soliciting contributions of food, money and clothing for the distressed inhabitants of that section. Hundreds have left the county, others are unable to get away. He says that unless the people get help soon many of them will starve to death.

A Youthful Firebug.

WATERTOWN, Wis., Dec. 6.—John Schuster, aged 13, was arrested charged with setting fire to Lewis & Jenks' factory in April last. He was bound over for trial. Edward Weigel, aged 11, sent to the reform school for burglary, says he and Schuster started the factory fire and several others, which caused a loss of $25,000.

Succi Ghastly White.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Succi Friday morning weighed 112½ pounds. He slept all night and kept to his bed up till noon. His face is ghastly white, and despite his assertions to the contrary he is evidently suffering severely. It was the thirtieth day of his fast.

THEIR WORK REVIEWED

What the Farmers' Alliance Convention Has Accomplished.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

It Differs from the St. Louis One in Broadening the Scope of the Sub-Treasury Plan, and Demands a Graduated Income Tax.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 10.—The time has now arrived when it is possible to give something like a review of the week's work of the National Farmers' Alliance, and to distinguish what is merely ephemeral and of passing interest from what is of more permanent value. The most important thing actually done is undoubtedly the adoption of the new platform, which differs substantially from the St. Louis platform in broadening the scope of the sub-treasury plan, in demanding a graduated tax on incomes and in moderating the demand for government ownership of railways.

The Dakota people succeeded in working the land loan plank into the platform, the southwesterners succeeded in keeping in the essential features of the sub-treasury scheme, President Polk succeeded in getting in his recommendation about the taxation of incomes, and Hall, of Missouri, succeeded in getting in the demand for the reduction of the tariff. He says he put in the words "tariff tax" to show people that the tariff is a tax.

The Third Party Movement.

Another leading feature has been the movement in favor of a third party. This has been altogether successful. The Alliance as an organization is not committed to any such movement. Individual members of it are, however, and the call for the February convention signed by Alliance men from fifteen states shows that the movement is strong. As to the Polk-Macune investigation the outcome of that is unsatisfactory. The report of the committee virtually censured Polk, Livingston and Macune, but nothing was done to deprive any of them of any power or influence.

That Little Quarrel.

Yesterday Mr. Rittenhouse gave the representatives of the press a private audience, at which he answered freely and fully questions put to him concerning the charge that he had tried to manipulate a political deal with Mr. Blaine. Mr. Rittenhouse said that he had made an appointment with Col. Hinton to call on Mr. Blaine just before he left Washington, but he had no intention of talking over Alliance affairs. Mr. Blaine was indisposed, and he did not see him. He denies the authorship of any article ever printed in The Globe-Democrat, except one stating what the Kansas alliances expected to do. He says that Dr. Macune was a candidate for president a year ago and failed of election, and thereafter treated both Polk and himself differently from before.

President Polk was then asked what he had to say about the Rittenhouse affair. He said: "I had been away from Washington for some time previous to this convention. I know nothing of what occurred there. Rittenhouse is 21 years old, and I guess he is able to take care of himself.

"If Dr. Macune saw anything out of the way in Rittenhouse's conduct it was his duty, knowing that Rittenhouse was my appointee, to come to me and tell me about it. As things have fallen out it is a fight between them, and I am not concerned in it at all. If I wanted to see Mr. Blaine, at the state department or elsewhere, I should go and see him, no matter what anybody said."

Post Convention Echoes.

The echoes of the sub-treasury fight are still reverberating. The old adage that a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still, was never better illustrated than by the outspoken talk of the opponents of the measure since it was incorporated in the demands.

But if the echoes are loud on the sub-treasury bill, they are louder on the Lodge bill resolution. The movement to expunge from the minutes the anti-Lodge bill resolution came to a head yesterday afternoon. It was led by Tom W. Force, of Indiana. He said he had not favored the Dodge bill, but this convention had no business to take up partisan measures. The motion to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was passed was ruled out of order. On an appeal from the chair's decision the vote was 56 to 32.

This is the only ballot in the nature of a test vote on the matter, and it shows that more than one-third of the delegates are opposed to the resolution, and they were willing to resort to extraordinary measures to strike it out. Force said last night: "I was the first man to lead an independent movement in Indiana. I refused a Republican nomination to do it, and got 20,000 votes of Republican farmers to back me; but I tell you that this resolution will drive them all back into the Republican ranks. If you are going to be partisan the Republican Alliance men in my state will not stay with you."

Sauce for the Goose, Etc.

McAllister, of Mississippi, who introduced the resolution, heard Force and said: "There is no partisanship in the resolution. We want to get rid of partisanship." "Yes," said Force, "you want to get rid of it all on one side; you want Republicans to stop being partisans and let the Democrats be as partisan as they please."

The convention adjourned in apparent harmony, but the proceedings here have not healed any old wounds and have given rise to many new animosities. At the same time it is probable that when the delegates reach home they will be ashamed of the squabbles of this convention, and laying aside animosity for the present will try to present a united front again.

The movement has too much headway to be stopped. The body is still a great organization, and now that all the conflicting elements have blown off steam Engineer Macune will get his hand on the lever again and the train will go on. The snag which now looms up as a possible breeder of contention, according to some Alliance members, is the political convention called by the Knights of Labor to meet in February next to which the Alliance decided to send delegates. Whether the proceedings at that convention will cement or tend to thrust apart the elements that are battling for a third party movement remains to be seen.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

The McCarthy Faction Meets—The American Envoys Approve Its Action.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The majority of the Irish Nationalist parliamentary delegation met Tuesday pursuant to adjournment. Mr. Justin McCarthy presided. The first business before the meeting was the consideration of the manifesto which is to be issued to the people of Ireland by Mr. McCarthy on behalf of his colleagues and supporters. After considerable debate the matter was temporarily laid aside without any definite conclusion having been arrived at.

The chairman, Mr. McCarthy, then read a cable dispatch which had been received from the delegates of the party now in the United States. The dispatch expressed the cordial sympathy of the senders, with the resolution arrived at by the majority section with regard to methods of procedure in advancing the interests of Ireland and the party in the immediate future. Owing to the impossibility of securing an adequate interchange of views as to details by cable, the American delegates desire, as heretofore, to leave the responsibility to their colleagues at the scene of action.

The dispatch concluded by assuring Mr. McCarthy and his colleagues of the co-operation of the American delegates by such methods as they believed best to secure the withdrawal of Mr. Parnell and the reunification of the Irish Nationalist party.

Chicago's Big Depot Opened.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Not less than 15,000 people participated last night in the formal opening of the Grand Central station, the construction of which, at a cost of nearly $1,250,000, has just been completed for the traffic of the Wisconsin Central, Northern Pacific and Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City lines. It was an entirely cosmopolitan assemblage, railroad presidents, millionaire capitalists, merchants, mechanics, janitors and bootblacks mixing indiscriminately in the throng. Prior to the mass reception there was a flag raising on the big tower, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, and in response to which Henry Villard made a brief address on behalf of the Northern Pacific directory.

Escaped Through the Windows.

DENISON, Tex., Dec. 10.—A Missouri, Kansas and Texas express train was ditched between stations Ray and Alkire. The mail, express and baggage cars and two passenger coaches were derailed. The cars turned over on their sides and caught fire, but the flames were soon extinguished. The passengers broke through the windows and escaped. W. Whitridge, of Fort Scott, Kan.; W. D. Heggerson, of San Saba county; Express Messenger James Call, Baggage Master M. J. Handy and Porter Lee Caldwell were severely but not dangerously injured. The accident was caused by spreading rails.

Catholics Denounce an Editor.

MARLBORO, Mass., Dec. 10.—At a mass meeting called for the purpose, and attended by 2,000 Catholics and Protestants, resolutions were adopted denouncing as menacing to good order, public morality and decency Deputy Sheriff Charles F. Morse and The Marlboro Times, of which he is the editor, for recent attacks upon the Catholic religion and upon the Rev. P. A. McKenna, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and recognizing in Father McKenna the devoted champion of religion, temperance and every other good cause.

The Natural Gas Supply Giving Out.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 10.—A large amount of money has been spent in building natural gas pipe lines to Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Troy, Sidney, Piqua and other manufacturing centers in central Ohio. The owners of factories in all these cities have just been notified that the natural gas companies can no longer supply them with gas and will only fulfill private contracts. It is feared the supply will be inadequate even for private consumers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 10.—At a meeting of citizens interested in the organization of a permanent Fair association for the city of Buffalo it was decided to form an association with a capital stock of not less than $50,000 at $10 a share. A committee was appointed to confer with the officers of the Buffalo Park association in relation to the leasing of the fair grounds. A committee on organization was also appointed to report at a later meeting.

Idaho's First Legislature.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 10.—Yesterday the first legislature of Idaho convened. H. Z. Burkhart, ex-clerk, read the proclamation convening the special legislature. Thirty-six representatives were then sworn in. Permanent Speaker Frank A. Fenn then took the oath of office, it being administered by Judge Morgan. Charles Reed, of Ada county, was elected clerk.

A Museum for War Relics.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 10.—The board of aldermen by a two-thirds vote decided to give the Confederate Memorial Literary society the use of the Jeff Davis mansion for a museum for war relics. This was the executive mansion of the confederacy, and was occupied by President Jefferson Davis during his residence in Richmond.

To Guide the Vote for Senator.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 10.—The Farmers' Alliance state committee has instructed the county Alliances to take a vote on their choice for United States senator, such vote in the aggregate to guide the new legislature in the election of a senator. This canvass is to be made and reported at headquarters not later than Jan. 1.

Four Hundred Families Starving.

DUBLIN, Dec. 10.—The priests on Achill island have appealed to Chief Secretary Balfour to assist 400 families who are in actual distress because of the failure of the potato crop there. These unfortunate people have been reduced to the necessity of eating diseased potatoes in order to avoid death by starvation.

OF NATIONAL INTEREST

The Bill to Remove Gen. Grant's Remains from New York Defeated.

CLARKSON INTERVIEWED.

He Says Quay Will Continue as National Chairman, Thinks Blaine Is for Harrison for '92 and Tells of a Great Possibility for Gen. Miles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—At the request of the committee of agriculture the Farmers' Alliance sub-treasury bills were transferred from that committee to the committee on finance.

In introducing a bill relating to the circulation Mr. Plumb gave notice that if the election bill was not disposed of at an early day he would move to lay it aside for the time being in order that the bill just introduced by him and all other measures relating to the financial condition of the country should be considered.

Something, he said, should be done. Congress had on it a responsibility which, in his judgment, it could not avoid for any great period of time without letting go by a very great opportunity for helping the country, and one which, in his judgment, would not occur again in very many years. If something was not done within the next two or three weeks it might as well be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. McPherson offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the secretary of the treasury for a certified copy of the accounts of John I. Davenport, chief supervisor of elections for the southern district of New York, for the elections of 1884, 1886 and 1888, together with reports, correspondence, etc.

Mr. Quay offered a resolution (which was referred) for the amendment of the tariff bill on the subject of cables, cordage and twine.

A resolution offered by Mr. Butler was agreed to, directing the attorney general and the commission on a site for the government printing office to take no further proceedings in the matter until the senate shall have acted on a report from the committee on printing.

The federal elections bill was then taken up, and Mr. Berry addressed the senate in opposition to it.

The Grant Removal Bill Beaten.

In the house the credentials of T. J. Gearey, as representative elect from the First congressional district of California to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of J. [illegible] Haven, were presented and Mr. Gearey took the oath of office.

The fortification bill and the bill making a deficiency appropriation for public binding and printing were reported and referred.

In the morning hour the house resumed consideration of the Plumb resolution looking to the removal of the remains of Gen. U. S. Grant to Arlington cemetery, Washington.

Mr. Quinn, of New York, regretted the presentation of the resolution and that it should have passed the senate without a word of protest from the New York senators. It could have no other object than the tearing asunder of the heartstrings of the devoted family of the illustrious dead.

The resolution relative to the removal of the Grant remains was defeated—yeas, 92; nays, 153.

CLARKSON INTERVIEWED.

He Talks on Quay, Blaine, Cleveland and Gen. Miles.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Gen. Clarkson, the ex-assistant postmaster general, has returned to Washington from North Carolina, where he went for the benefit of his health. When asked if there was anything in the report that he would succeed Mr. Quay as chairman of the national Republican committee, Gen. Clarkson answered: "None, whatever. So far as I know, Mr. Quay will continue in his present office."

"What credence do you give the stories that Mr. Blaine will shortly retire from the cabinet so as to put himself in position to secure the presidential nomination?"

"Mr. Blaine is the premier of this administration," said Gen. Clarkson; "you can't detach or disassociate him therefrom. He stands or falls with it; therefore, Mr. Blaine's lot is cast with Mr. Harrison. My idea is that he is for President Harrison in '92. But '92 is a long way ahead, and new men are likely to come to the front.

"I don't expect to see the Democrats nominate Cleveland. They will take a new man, and our side is apt to follow suit. Suppose there is an Indian war. Gen. Miles would, as certainly as I am talking to you, be its hero. He would make a magnificent president. As an orator he has few peers; for a mastery of statecraft and all the lore of the books he hasn't a superior in America. No man exceeds him in breadth of information on all around equipment. He is a military Blaine, and I tell you if we do have trouble with the redskins he will so cover himself with glory that thousands will naturally turn to him as the fittest occupant the White House could have."

The Charleston's Guns.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The navy department has issued orders for the shipment from the Washington ordnance factory to the Mare island navy yard of the two 8-inch guns for the Charleston. These guns were not finished at the time the Charleston was put in commission, and four 6-inch guns were substituted for them temporarily. These 6-inch guns will now be transferred to the San Francisco to complete her battery.

Bound and Gagged by Burglars.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—Three masked men bound and gagged William Johnson, janitor and night watchman of the Wigwam theatre, and then proceeded to open the safe with tools. According to Johnson they worked an hour and a half before they succeeded in opening it, whence they took $1,900 cash, several watches and some stage jewelry, valued at $1,000. After the robbers had left the place Johnson managed to release himself and notified the police.

The Railway Mail Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A convention of officials connected with the railway mail service was opened Tuesday. It was called to order by Superintendent Jackson, of the second division, for the purpose of conference and discussion with regard to various matters of importance affecting the mail service of the middle states, which comprise the divisions

N. Y. CENTRAL MEN DISCHARGED.

Superintendent Burrows Says It's Nobody's Business but the Company's.

BUFFALO, Dec. 10.—The New York Central railroad discharged thirty-four men, most of them employes at the Ohio street freight house, the reason given being that on account of the close of navigation they were not needed. The reduction in force led to sensational reports that the company had begun a crusade against its employes who are identified with certain labor organizations. Superintendent Burrows said he had no knowledge of any dismissals except at the freight house, but it was possible that the trainmaster had discovered that some new men were members of labor unions and had discharged them. In such an event, Superintendent Burrows said, the trainmaster was doing the proper thing, and it was nobody's business but that of the company.

Serious Strike on the U. P.

OGDEN, Utah, Dec. 10.—The Union Pacific switchmen in the Ogden yards struck yesterday, and reports from along the line indicate that the trouble is serious. The difficulty is on account of a cut in wages and a reduction of the night force. It is expected that the strike will assume a serious aspect.

A Minister's Prophetic Words.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Dec. 10.—While preaching to a large congregation at the East Millstone Reformed church Sunday night the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. P. Strong, said: "A man might fall as easy as a star from the heavens." The next instant his face turned ashy pale, he clutched wildly at the pulpit for support, and then dropped on the floor in a fit of apoplexy. The horrified congregation was spellbound for a moment. Then the cooler ones rushed to the prostrate man and raised him from the floor. He was taken home and died Monday. He was about 60 years of age, and leaves a widow and four grown daughters.

Walked to His Death.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 10.—Anson Albee, aged 72, a wealthy and prominent citizen of Crawfordsville, was found dead yesterday at Gosport, fourteen miles west of here. He was in this city on Saturday to close up trade, and left at 5 p. m., intending to take the midnight train for home. In going to the depot he walked off of a forty foot trestle and fell on the rocks below, causing instant death. He had in his possession $1,927 and a gold watch, which were found on his person.

Archduke John's Ship Spoken.

HAMBURG, Dec. 10.—A bark has arrived at this port which reports having seen on July 31 the ship which is commanded by Johann Orth, formerly the Archduke John of Austria, near Cape Horn. Terrible weather prevailed at the time of the vessels speaking each other. Capt. Orth's ship, the Saint Marguerite, was believed to have been lost while bound from Buenos Ayres to Valparaiso.

Sawtelle's Trial On.

DOVER, N. H., Dec. 10.—Venires to draw ninety-three jurors for the trial of Isaac Sawtelle for the murder of his brother Hiram were issued Tuesday evening. Chief Justice Doe and Judge Bingham will try the case.

The New Ice Crop.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 10.—Many of the ice companies on the Kennebec river have begun scraping their ice fields preparatory to cutting their winter crops. The ice is from six to eight inches thick, and the fields are in excellent shape. It is estimated there is not over 50,000 or 75,000 tons of old ice on hand.

THE RESULTS SO FAR NEGATIVE.

Dr. Bacon's Guarded Statement Regarding His Koch Cure Experiments.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 10.—To a representative of the press Tuesday morning Dr. Francis Bacon, who is one of the doctors in charge of the three Koch's lymph cases here, stated that the curative results thus far obtained had been "negative," the doctor using the last word with considerable emphasis.

As it has been positively stated heretofore by some of the attending doctors that the expected first reaction had been obtained, the word "negative" must be held to apply strictly to signs of cure, which may or may not come later. It has been noticed that Dr. Bacon has at no time spoken so hopefully of the cases as have some of the other attending doctors.

There has been some local criticism by doctors of the selection of a pretty advanced case of consumption, instead of one of the less advanced cases for which Dr. Koch recommends the use of the lymph.

It is stated that Professor Chittenden, of the Yale Scientific school, has received another package of lymph from Professor Kohne, the German physiological chemist. The amount is not large, but is enough to test thoroughly the cases in hand and possibly some new ones.

LYON & CO.

HE STUDIED KOCH'S CURE

Dr. Goffe, of New York, Investigated It for Himself in Berlin.

IT IS A GREAT DISCOVERY.

The Impression in the Clinic, Dr. Goffe Says, Is That a Wonderful Remedy Has Been Found—An Interesting and Timely Interview.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Among the first, if not the first, physicians to return to this city after studying the Koch method of consumption cure in the clinics under the immediate supervision of Dr. Koch, in Berlin, is Dr. J. Riddle Goffe, of No. 29 West Forty-sixth street, who arrived yesterday on the Saale, of the North German Lloyd line. Dr. Goffe gave to a reporter an account of the work of Dr. Koch, of the present state of feeling in Berlin and the attitude entertained toward the great discoverer by a large number of physicians seen personally by him. Said Dr. Goffe:

"Yes, I come directly from Berlin, where I have passed some time in study in the clinics of Dr. Bergman and Dr. Cornet, pupils and representatives of Dr. Koch. They are in fact his assistants, and make a practical application of the lymph which he prepares. Dr. Koch, it may be said, does not directly experiment on patients. There I have observed the treatment for both lupus and tuberculosis on people of all ages and conditions, though it should be explained that persons in an advanced stage of consumption are not experimented upon.

"Every patient that is brought into the clinic must have made out a complete table showing his physical condition, and a diagnosis is then made of his disease. This description is read aloud, and changed, if necessary, after each treatment, in order to show what effect the previous inoculation has had. In this way it is possible for the physicians attending the clinics to get an accurate idea of the effect of the lymph.

The Injections.

"These clinics present a strange appearance. So great is the interest that the lecture and operating rooms are crowded to the doors, and even in the halls and corridors there are physicians struggling to get in. It is therefore a matter of some difficulty to get near enough to observe carefully the operation.

"Some of the patients treated are kept at the hospital all the time; others who are more slightly affected are permitted to go to their work while awaiting another inoculation. A very great depression follows the use of the lymph, and while it is usual to inoculate daily, if by reason of this depression the patient has not sufficiently rallied, the treatment is deferred.

"Outdoor and laboring patients are inoculated about noon, and as the reaction begins about six hours after inoculation it permits the patient to recover from the depression by the following morning. The inoculation is always made in the back, just over the shoulder blade. This spot is selected by Dr. Koch as being most free from abscess and local irritations.

"As each patient is treated it is stated how many injections have been administered and the quantity, together with the results. All the operations are made openly so as to preclude the idea of fraud, and to give the visiting physicians the best possible means of observation. Everything is done with the greatest care.

"There is, however, not much use in being there, as the system of inoculation is so simple. The essential thing is the lymph. The more advanced the disease the smaller the quantity of lymph injected, and the less frequently was it given, as the dangers of depression and reaction are all the greater.

The Pathetic Side.

"There is a pathetic side of the case. Physicians have come with patients from all over the world. Many of them are in an advanced stage of consumption, and, as is well known concerning the character of the disease, they are all hopeful. But none of these advanced cases is received at the clinics. Berlin is filled with these consumptives, and without doubt a great, though perhaps unavoidable, danger has been occasioned to the consumptive class in their being led by their own hopefulness to journey to Berlin."

As regards the attitude of mind of the physicians at Berlin, both resident and from abroad, toward the remedy, Dr. Goffe said:

"The impression in the clinic is that enough has been seen to warrant the belief that a great discovery has been made. It is thought to be a cure for certain cases within certain limits. I saw a very large number of people operated upon in the clinic, and there was great and evident improvement in many of these cases. I talked with physicians from Scotland, England, Austria and Paris and the general attitude is one of belief in Dr. Koch and hopefulness in his discovery.

"Dr. Koch himself spends all his available time manufacturing the lymph, which is a delicate work and demands his constant supervision. There are always crowds of physicians on hand to talk with him, but after an audience has been given to a few he slips away to his work. Of course the nature of the lymph is not known. Opinion there is divided.

People Expect Too Much.

"Some think that it is a chemical compound, some that it is a cultivated form of some bacillus, some that it is a kind of virus like vaccine, and some believe it to be a ptomain—that is, a secretion found in tissue where bacilli have been secreted. One thing is certain, the excitement in the cure must be toned down to reach the exact limitation of its use. People expect too much."

Just before Dr. Goffe departed from Berlin the announcement was made that on the 15th of the present month lymph would

The Policy Was Valid.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Dec. 9.—Mrs. Adams, widow of the late Dr. Adams, for many years president of the Illinois Wesleyan university, received judgment against the Mutual Life Reserve Fund association of New York for $10,260. The defendant resisted the payment of the policy on the ground that the installments due five days before the deceased died were not paid. The court held that the policy was valid.

'Twas a Timely Gift for Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 10.—The gift of D. B. Fayerweather to Yale is said to be far the largest unrestricted fund ever given to the university. It comes at a most opportune time, as the university authorities have been almost at their wits' ends to provide on the one hand for the instruction of the greatly increasing body of students, and on the other hand for the expansion of work due to the adoption of an enlarged elective system a few years ago. Treasurer Farnam is quoted as saying that the sum will probably be used to endow new professorships, and the imperative need of instructors indicates the use to which the new fund will probably be applied. Only $100,000 of the fund is given to the scientific school. The other $200,000 is given to the college without restriction.

He was seated in a chair at the breakfast table when stricken with death. He had been ailing with a cold for the past week, but heart failure is said to have been the immediate cause of his death.

WINDOM'S FINANCIAL POLICY.

Whatever He May Do He Doesn't Propose to Bankrupt the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The Sun prints a long report of an interview on the financial situation held by its Washington correspondent with Secretary Windom. The secretary says the treasury department is doing all it can to relieve the present stringency, and will continue on the same line of policy it has followed up to this time. The stringency, he says, is not a result of contraction of the currency, and there has never been a time in the government's history in an era of peace when so much money has been flowing out of the treasury into the country.

The treasury has put out over $100,000,000 within the last nineteen months with no appreciable effect, and he thinks the money has been hoarded. The $100,000,000 in gold held as the legal tender reserve will never be disturbed with his consent. Congress might order it done, but he would not recommend it. He might possibly call on the $24,000,000 deposited in national banks, but he doesn't think this would be a very popular proposition at the present time. In conclusion he says that whatever he may do toward allaying the uneasiness in monetary circles he doesn't propose to let the treasury become bankrupt.

CONVINCED IT'S MURDER.

Police Sure That Merchantville's Mystery Is a Case of Foul Play.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 9.—Detective Gallagher has discovered the identity of the negro whose body was found in Johnson's cemetery, and the county authorities are now convinced that the man was murdered, and have put both the county detectives on the case to search for the murderers.

The body is supposed to be that of Isaiah Poke, who about a year ago worked on the farm of Henry Van Name at Moorestown. Poke mysteriously and suddenly disappeared last spring, and nothing has been heard of him since. He was an industrious, hard working negro, and was known to have always carried a large sum of money around him.

He disappeared on a Saturday night and was last seen in a hotel in Matchtown. It was suspected by his friends at the time that he had been murdered, as he never went back to the Van Name farm to secure his clothes, which are still there.

The Clergyman Surprised Them.

NORWICH, Conn., Dec. 9.—The Rev. Dr. Leonard Woolsey Bacon, of the Second Congregational church, spoke Sunday evening from the subject "The Completion of the New Theatre." He had recently criticised the management for working on the building on Sundays, and a sharp arraignment with denunciation of the playhouse was expected. Instead, however, the reverend gentleman spoke in high terms of the edifice as erected, and among other things said: "We have got to look the facts in the face, and recognize that the old sweeping condemnation of the theatre once universal among earnest, pure and faithful men was founded on a state of facts which no longer exist. In view of these changes, for the church to retain its old attitude of condemning all indiscriminately would not be consistent." He closed with an open welcome to the new theatre.

To Protest Against Jewish Persecution.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The new lord mayor is convinced that it is time for Englishmen to protest against the inhuman treatment of the Jews in Russia, and in deference to a numerously signed call has appointed next Wednesday as the date of a meeting at the Guildhall. Notwithstanding the seeming indifference of the Russian government this action on the part of London's chief magistrate is known to be deeply felt, and renewed efforts have been made to throw dust in English eyes, and thereby have the movement dropped, as was done by the preceding lord mayor, Mr. Isaacs, himself a Jew. But this time there will be a meeting.

O'Brien's Hopes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Mr. O'Brien, the Irish M. P., gave the following communication to the press today:

"The situation is one of extreme delicacy and may involve consequences affecting the whole course of Irish affairs during our generation. Under these circumstances we must ask our friends to believe that it is under a deep sense of responsibility we continue to maintain our attitude of complete reserve, having still a strong hope that the Irish party may be spared the calamities of internal dissension, and being persuaded that we will best aid in that direction by avoiding all unnecessary publicity. We are all in complete accord as to our action, and we must beg the public to take no notice of ridiculous rumors to the contrary."

A Reported Marine Horror.

CSTEND, Dec. 9.—A fishing smack just arrived at this port brings with her the alarming report of the foundering at sea of the Belgian training ship Ville d'Anvers, with 100 boys on board. The Belgian government is without any information corroborative of the report, which is generally disbelieved.

Succi in Good Spirits.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Succi, Monday morning, on the thirty-third day of his fast, weighed 111 pounds, a loss of two ounces since Sunday. He seems to be in better spirits than he was all last week.

Foundrymen Fail.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 10.—Thomas Scantlin & Son, leading foundrymen, failed here for $100,000, the assets being in excess of that amount. Poor collections and indorsements some years ago are the causes assigned.

Statements are made that Mr. Rittenhouse, private secretary to President Polk, of the Farmers' Alliance, is responsible for the misunderstanding between the president and Dr. Macune, chairman of the executive committee, and that he endeavored to confer with Secretary Blaine on political affairs with a view of turning the Alliance influence over to the latter. There is no evidence, however, that he succeeded in seeing Mr. Blaine. Various revelations are coming out that implicate the Alliance in bargains with the great political parties.

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

An Effort to Have the Next Session Held in Indianapolis.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 9.—The National Farmers' Alliance reassembled and, after routine work and a few speeches concerning newspaper correspondents because they have secured information of the proceedings beyond that given out by the press committee, the convention listened to a report of the committee on legislation with reference to the sub-treasury bill, and this matter has been under discussion for over two hours.

The report is said to have recommended numerous changes in the bill as originally drawn, presumably with the purpose of securing Democratic support for this measure.

Capt. C. A. Power, of Indiana, has been circulating a petition to the National Alliance asking that it rescind its action of Saturday night naming Washington and the third Tuesday in November as the time and place for holding the next annual meeting, and making Indianapolis the place. Many signatures have already been secured, and it is predicted the change will be made.

The Alliance will probably remain in session two or three days longer.

Two Men Fearfully Burned.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—While social games were going on at Mrs. Michaelson's house, at 118 North Sangamon street, last night, some one touched a pendent lamp, which fell and exploded. The burning oil flew over the guests, and Fred Jawbson and Andrew Lucken, a carpenter 40 years of age, were quickly enveloped in flames. The women screamed with fright, but the male guests threw coats about the blazing forms, and the flames were finally subdued. The two men were fearfully burned. Both were taken to the county hospital, and their recovery is doubtful.

Mrs. Burnett's Son Dead.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Dr. S. M. Burnett received a cablegram from his wife, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, announcing the death of their son Lionel, in Paris. He was taken abroad suffering from consumption in the hope of finding relief, but he became gradually worse and died today, as stated. Lionel was the eldest son of Mrs. Burnett, and not the original "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

An Unexpected Failure.

The firm was rated at over a million, and their credit was the highest in the trade. Robert S. Roberts, Edward Roberts and Nathan R. Roberts compose the firm. The assignee is Charles Stone, of Washington county.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

MRS. GLADSTONE'S KINDNESS.

How the Great Statesman's Wife Treated A Pretty American Girl.

A pretty American girl recently called upon Mrs. Gladstone at her London home. She carried a most favorable letter of introduction as a member of a well known American family. Her brightness and sparkle attracted the wife of the great English statesman, and for an entire afternoon and evening she lived in the Gladstone household. She confessed to Mrs. Gladstone that her visit had a purpose—that of writing an article on the home-life of her hostess for an American magazine.

But, my dear, said Mrs. Gladstone, your people are interested in Mr. Gladstone; they do not know me.

That is just why I came, replied the girl, in order that Americans may learn a little more of you.

At the tea-table, Mr. Gladstone joined with his wife in entertaining the American girl and few were ever given a better opportunity of seeing the Gladstone home-life.

The quiet part which Mrs. Gladstone has played in the career of her famous husband is known to only a few. While thousands of articles have been written of Mr. Gladstone, none of an authoritative character have been printed of her life. Even her portrait is seldom seen in the English shops; rarely in the prints. She has always felt that public interest in her own country, and across the sea was centered in her husband, and in order that his greatness might stand out more strikingly, she has each year retired further from public view. A freshness will, therefore, attach itself to the story 'A Day with Mrs. Gladstone, as it will be told by her bright young visitor in The Ladies Home Journal, of Philadelphia, during the coming year. This article will be one of the series of 'Unknown Wives of Well-known Men,' which his excellent magazine will contain during 1891.

To Visit California and the Far West via Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Possibly no new feature ever inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has attracted such universal comment and attention as the series of tours it has announced, to be run early in 1891 to the far Pacific Coast. Each tour will be limited to one hundred passengers, who will travel in a Pullman vestibule train, furnished with the luxurous appointments of the richest home, with ladies' maid, stenographer and writer, library, bath and barber, and smoking and library rooms, and an observation car—in truth an exact reproduction of the famous Pennsylvania Limited. The first tour leaves New York February 7th, and speeds directly to the scene of the famous Mardi Gras at New Orleans, and then out to Southern California, and directly north to San Francisco, where the unrestricted liberty of three whole weeks is allowed after which they join the special train for their homeward bound trip via Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs, Denver, Omaha and Chicago.

In the selection of its Tourists Agents and Chaperons this company has chosen them with a special view to their fitness and whatever tends to the tourist's comfort or interest is assured by their presence. No such opportunity has ever before been presented to the people of the East of thoroughly seeing the vast domain of the country they so valiantly boast of, and at such a beautiful season of the year. The rate for the round trip of this first tour is but $275.00, which includes not only all necessary traveling expenses to San Francisco and return, but side trips to the most attractive resorts in California, meals en route, and several carriage and stage rides of interest.

Names are now being registered for each of the tours, and applications for Pullman accommodations and itineraries should be made to Mr. Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, 233 South Fourth Fourth Street, Philadelphia.

Not Able to Walk.

I was confined to my bed for six months with Rheumatism, not able to walk a step. All of the remedies usually prescribed for this disease having been employed to no effect. I commenced taking S S. D. I have now taken 11 bottles of this excellent medicine and am on my feet, attending to all my housework as of yore. I feel that I cannot sufficiently express my thanks for the benefit I have received from the use of this medicine.

He Did Not Say Much, but Got Along.

New York Tribune.

Well, he said, so old Bill Jennings is in Congress, eh? A regular politician? Now that do beat all. Do you mean to say that Bill Jennings is a first-rate Congressman?

First rate; one of the best.

Dear, dear. Now do tell me, what is there about him to make him think he is a big man?

He is supposed to have a level head and a shrewd judgment.

Bill Jennings! Why, why he never done nothing in his life. I remember him when he first came to our town. He had $16. And that fellow couldn't say ten words. His next door neighbors didn't know him. He just worked along by himself. First thing you know he buys a lot down in Maine street, and blamed if Maine street didn't begin to grow as soon as he got into it. He seem-to hit it 'bout right.

That's his way.

And the next thing you know he buys another lot and begins to build a house. I suppose he mortgaged every foot of it as it went up, don't you?

Perhaps he did.

We'll, I'm blamed if the people didn't turn his way for building their houses.

He was far sighted, wasn't he?

Oh, no! He never said nothing; never consulted no one. And first thing you know the people elected him mayor. He was mayor four times, by George! then they sent him to the State Legislature. and he ain't never done a thing. Why, he couldn't make a speech of ten words. I never heard him say a word at a political meeting. And you say he's in Congress now?

He's in Congress.

Well, dog my cats if I understand it! Maybe I don't know the ins and outs of political business, but I don't see how a man like Bill Jennings can go to Congress. I tell you it surprises me. What has he ever done? Dog my cats if I understand it!

The War Prisoner's Monument.

The Union Prisoners of War National Memorial Association is taking active steps toward securing enough funds to erect a suitable monument in Washington, D C. in memorial of the thousands of brave Union veterans who died in Confederate prisons.

According to statistics completed by the committee in charge of the memorial and recently published, 71,000 Union soldiers died in those prisons, while but 61,000 were killed in battle.

According to the figures given in W. F. Fox's Regimental Losses in the American Civil War, in the twelve great battles of the War, the number of Union soldiers killed in action were as follows: Gettysburg, 3,070; Syottsylvania, 2,725; Wilderness, 2,346; Antietam, 2,208; Chancellorsville, 1,606; Chickamauga, 1,656 Cold Harbor, 1,844, Fredericksburg, 1,284 Manassas, 1,847; Shiloh, 1,754; Stone River, 1,730; Petersburg, 1, 588; total, 23-358. The number of prisoner's graves in the Andersonville cemetery is 13,705 at Salisbury, 1,2,178; total, 25 879, or 2-521 more killed by starvation in those two prisons than in the twelve bloodiest battles of the War.

A Romance in Reality.

One of the recent novels has for its theme a young man pronounced dead and his sisters reisting the order of the health authorities that he be buried, He is restored by a physician who possess extraordinary power of a hypnotic character. It is curious that on the heels of that publication there is an actual case almost exactly corresponding with its theme. George W. Fry, a druggist of May's Landing, N. J., was pronounced dead nearly two weeks ago, but his sisters refuse to believe it and will not allow burial. They are spiritualists and profess to be directed by spirits, who assure them that their brother is not dead, and curiously enough, in this case as in the imagined one, the essential evidence of death is wanting. Science claims to have discovered the origin of natural death in the advance from single celled to multiple celled beings, but singular enough, science has not yet discovered the primal difference between life and death. Its dictum in that has often proved false. Science admits that it knows nothing about the origin of life. With all its research it seems to know no more about the actuality one of it than people did before science was born. In the midst of life we are in death; but on the other hand, in the midst of what we suppose death we are in life.

THE STORY OF A WINDOW.

A Charming Little Story Illustrating the Fickleness of Widows.

The first morning I came down town on the Third avenue elevated with the bald headed man he called my attention to a woman who sat sewing near a window not more than thirty feet from the station. She was both good looking and happy.

"Often see her husband up there with his arm around her," said the bald-headed man, and I exchanged words about her, but there was nothing new. One morning, after about three months, bald-head observed:

"She's got an anxious look. Husband is probably sick."

Three days later he said:

"She's awfully worried. Husband is probably worse."

Two or three days later we saw her in mourning, and it was no use to tell each other that her husband had passed away.

"Too bad! Too bad!" sighed my friend. "Well, she'll reverence his memory all the rest of her days."

Almost every morning for three months we saw her at the sewing machine as the train pulled up at the station. On one occasion my friend blurted out:

"Sad! She's got into second mourning already! It's probably a case of necessity! I suppose she can be just as sorry in that."

A month later we saw her at the glass curling her hair. My friend didn't say anything, but he looked uneasy. It wasn't a fortnight before her second mourning had disappeared, and we heard her humming a lively air as she threaded a spool. I looked at my friend.

"Probably visits his grave every Sunday," he replied. "Light-hearted women never get over grieving. She's singing to ease the pain in her heart."

Just a month from that day she stood at the window. There was a man beside her. She had her head on his shoulder.

"But I thought you said she would never—"

"Never said a durned word about her, gosh durn her!" he cried; and now we never look into that window any more. Our romance has been shattered and dispelled.

Two Items of Interest.

From the Philadelphia Times.

Ex-Governor Curtin, when visiting New York last week, was taken with chills and was indisposed for several days. He is now at the Stratford Hotel, in this city, and, although yet somewhat enfeebled by his late illness, is free from all suffering and will be about again when pleasant weather shall return.

Leonard Rhone, of Centre Hall, was a Lafayette guest yesterday. He is deeply interested in the Farmers' Alliance movement, a very natural thing, as he has been actively indentified with the Patrons of Husbandry since the day of organization, and he says that the farmers, while slow and methodical to move, are now awake to their interests in Pennsylvania. They will keep a close eye on legislation at Harrisburg this winter, especially on measures touching State revenue reform and the State roads, on both of which they expect Governor Pattison to treat in a message, and they are deeply interested in ballot reform. Mr. Rhone is a gentleman of clear, straightforward convictions and a Granger who weighs well any movement into which he enters.

Give Them Aid.

A correspondent hands us the following: Cold winter has once more arrived and with it comes the knowledge of a vast number of poor. One would think that in a county as rich as Centre is there would be no poor. But we are exceedingly sorry to say that to-day there may be seen on the streets of Bellefonte two delicate looking little girls,asking for food and clothing which, to judge from their appearance, they greatly need. Is there no one to take pity on the poor? Will these innocent little creatures be compelled to wear their lives away asking for alms in a town like Bellefonte? We hope not. Certainly there is some one who will see to it that they are fed and clothed. While there are so many that have all they can use and to spare, could not so little be given to keep two little girls from freezing and starving? Here is a work for one of the benevolent societies of this town; now let them do the work that is so plain to all. Relieve the poor and distressed at home and then go to work for the foreign missions.

Buy Your Presents at Home.

As the holiday season is about approaching, the season when the purchase of articles out of the usual everyday line is made, a little admonition on the subject will not be out of place. Don't be made a subject for other men and women to plunder. Be careful not to be taken for fool. All sorts of schemes are being concocted to cheat the people under the old inducements of getting bargains. All the so called literary papers are filled with alluring advertisements about bargains in ribbons, watches, jewelry, cutlery, perfumes, soaps, tickets in lotteries, investments in lands, rare chances to get homes in a romote part of the country. Don't be a fool and throw your money away in this manner. Don't buy of parties who are not fass to face with you when the transactions are consummated.

Twenty-five Years Married.

To-day Chief-of-Police William Gares and his wife celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. It was in 1865, just after Mr. Gares' return from the war that the marriage ceremony was performed. During the 25 years of married life they have been blessed with twelve children, all of whom are living and well to-day. William Gares is now but 44 years of age and Mrs. Gares 43 they are both comparatively stout and bid fair to live many years yet.

Obituary.

Miss Eliza J. Burrows, well known to many of our readers, died at her home in Erie, Pa., Oct 4th. She was a teacher in one of the public schools of that city. Her death was the result of a paralytic stroke which she received about ten days previous. The funeral was largely attended. All of the city schools were closed out of respect to her memory. Rev. Solon Cobb, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, of which she was an active and consistent member, payed to her a glowing tribute. We cannot in this little sketch speak of all the virtues that crowned so useful a life. We can only speak of some of the characteristics which marked her earthly career. She was self sacrificing and tender, loyal and true. It would take a more ready, though not a more willing, pen than mine to tell of all her faith and patience; her love and kindness; her charity and wisdom exhibited through all the years I have known her. We can say we have lost a dear friend, a wise counsellor, she was faithful to the end, always ready to serve when asked in whatever way the master called; gifted in prayer, having a well trained, and well stored mind, sanctified by the Holy spirit, and though sorrowing, may we follow her as she followed Christ. The strength and fervor of her christian character seemed to flow largely from her careful study of the word of God making her clear in her judgments and decided in her convictions. She was strictly conscientious and deliberate in every plan of action and in the discharge of all her duties; and while our hearts almost fainted under the suddenness of the stroke we might not question his love in the mysteries of providence. Our sorrow is all for ourselves; for her there is exceeding joy; she has been admitted into the presence of the King whom she loved and served; she is 'Forever with the Lord'.

A FRIEND.

[Miss Burrows, the subject of the above tribute, was born at Lemont, this county, and when she died was about 53 years of age. Her sister, Mrs. Mary M. Miller, was visiting in Centre county at the time of Miss Burrows's death. It had been 23 long years from the time she had been at her old home and it was her intention to make an extended visit, but the sad and sudden demise of her sister necessitated her return before she had been here a couple of weeks.—ED.]

The Cleary Case.

Petitions are out asking the Court to accept the plea of 'guilty of murder in the second degree, from Charles Cleary, and thus save the cost of a new trial, which is set down for the coming January term. This seems like a curious and is certainly a very unusual proceeding, and we do not know whether the Court could have any right to or would even contemplate the acceptance of such a proposition. Of this the Court itself must be its own adviser,and we have no doubt that it will do what is right in the premises.

Literary Note.

The J. G. Cupples Company of Boston, will soon issue a very dainty holiday book entitled "Aunty's Elfin Land." It is a collection of fairy stories; or rather, the combined histories of three children who had most strange adventures in the land of "the little folk." They are written by Mrs. Maria Hildreth Parker, and are illustrated by Hermann D. Murphy. The book will commend itself to those who are in search of holiday gifts for children who have outgrown the jingle of nursery rhymes. Mrs Parker is the widow of Col. J. M. G. Parker, for many years a prominent citizen of New Orleans, and is the sister-in-law of Gen. B. F. Butler.

Cold Waves.

Are predicted with reliable accuracy, and people liable to the pains and aches of rheumatism dread every chance to damp or stormy weather. Although Hood's Sarsaparilla is not claimed to be a positive specific for rheumatism, the remarkable cures it has effected show that it may be taken for this complaint with reasonable certainty of benefit. Its action in neutralizing the acidity of the blood,which is the cause of rheumatism, constitutes the secret of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. If you suffer from rheumatism, give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial; it will do you good.

Fabio Romani.

On next Wednesday evening Aiden Benedict's "Fabio Romani" company will be in Garman's opera house. In speaking of the play the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette says: "Aiden Benedict's 'Fabio Romani' is one of the strongest, best acted and best dressed plays ever presented in a Pittsburgh theatre. Walter Lawrence is an agreeable as well as a talented actor, and in this play he has two characters that are well suited to his style and range. He is well supported by Miss Frances Field and a good company. The scenery is brilliant and effective, especially the Bay of Naples and the eruption of Vesuvius and the earthquake scene."

A Successful Hunt.

The most successful hunting party we have heard of this season was that composed of Wilson Parker, Capt. Harry Simler, Herbert Goodrum and John Ardell, Jr. They began hunting on Monday morning, but on that day they saw and captured nothing. From Tuesday 'till yesterday evening they killed a buck weighing 110 lbs, a 95lb doe, eleven rabbits and five partridges. The game was on exhibition at the Coal Exchange Hotel today. Wilson Parker proved himself quite a hero in this expedition. The hunting was done near Beaver Mills, this county.

GORMANDIZING,

or overeating, or the partaking of too rich and indigestible food, is a common cause of discomfort and suffering. To immediately relieve the stomach and bowels from such overloading, a full dose of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets is the best remedy. They operate gently, yet thoroughly and without griping, nausea, or other unpleasant effects.

If the too free indulgence in such intemperate eating has deranged digestion, causing dyspepsia and billiousness, attended with a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in mouth in the morning, on arising, drowsiness after meals, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity and hypochondria—then you need to follow up the use of the "Pellets" with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to tone up the stomach, invigorate the liver, and set all the processes of digestion at work. While curing indigestion, it purifies the blood, cleansing the system from all humors and blood-poisons—no matter of what name or nature, or from what cause arising. There is nothing similar to it in composition or approaching it in results. Therefore, don't be duped and induced to take some substitute, said to be "just as good," that the dealer may make a larger profit.

ONLY TOO TRUE.

High Taxes, High Rents and Foreign Competition Killing Bellefonte.

A gentleman walked into the NEWS office on Saturday and inserted an advertisment for the purpose, he said, "of bringing him business that he might make money enough to ride out of town; otherwise he would be obliged to walk out as the high taxes, high rents and foreign competition were so death-dealing in their effects that he, or no other business man, could afford to live much longer in Bellefonte."

It requires but very little reflection or investigation to see that the above is only too true. The time was, not very many years ago, when foreign competition was a thing comparatively unknown in Bellefonte, The groceries consumed were bought of Bellefonte grocers; the clothing worn was purchased of Bellefonte dry goods merchants and clothiers; the potatoes consumed were the produce of Centre county farmers; and when these same grocers, merchants, farmers, etc, had any labor to be performed it was given to a resident of his own town, if they had any printing to do it was given to a home office; and so on from one to another all worked for each other's good. But now there are scores of families that buy their groceries from some street "bummer;" they send to Philadelphia and New York for their drygoods and clothing, and the merchants in turn import their potatoes their cabbage: employ foreign labor send their printing to the city and all are seemingly doing their level best to see if they can't run their neighbor to the wall and have the sheriff lock up his place of business. Is this Christian like? Why it is worse than heathenish.

And then the rents. Everybody knows that rents were always too high in Bellefonte and there has always been a demand for lower rents; but it seems the greater the demand, the louder the poor cry for cheaper rents, the higher they are raised. Why any kind of a decent house can't be rented in Bellefonte to-day for less than from $8 to $10 per month; and by next spring it wouldn't be at all surprising if some Bellefonte landlords would put a chimney on a pig-sty in some back alley, run a partition through it, put a hen loft above, paint it over with one coat of ready mixed paint and then advertise, "a very large and commodious house for rent in a most desirable locality—price only $12 50 per month." Such is the cheek of Bellefonte landlords. And this does not apply alone to those who have houses for rent, but to those who rent business places also. There are lots of business places in Bellefonte that never cost when erected, or couldn't be sold today for a cent over twenty hundred or three thousand dollars at the outside, for which the enormous rental of from $400 to $750 per annum is demanded. An income of anywhere from 15 to 40 per cent. on the capital invested. Is it any wonder, then, that people cry "high rents."

And high taxes! This is the most terrible curse of all curses on Bellefonte. Just think of it; Bellefonte tax payers pay forty some mills on every dollar of property they are supposed to own, or their occupation represent. Almost five cents on the dollar. It is the greatest usury demanded in any known clime of ancient or modern day. Why in 25 years a man will have paid the full value of all his property into the borough treasury as taxes. And it is getting worse every year. It was not so bad years ago. Then a general borough tax was all that was required to meet the expenses. Then a street tax was laid, a school tax, a building tax, an interest tax, a water tax—the greatest of all taxes, and now almost the utmost farthing that the law will allow is being assessed and collected on all these taxes and still the borough is in debt one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars and the income is not sufficient to meet the expense. What is to be done? Let the people demand change in borough legislation or the first thing they know there will be two or three other taxes thrust upon them. Just what they will be is hard to imagine, as everything that one can now make use of seems to be taxed unless it is the pure mountain air of which Bellefonte is so plentifully provided.

And so it is. High taxes, high rents and foreign competition." If the present state of affairs continue many years there won't be enough of life left in Bellefonte to bury the remembrance of old times. No wonder the Centre Iron Company was compelled to shut down. The only wonder is how it was able to survive so long. No wonder everybody is crying hard times. The most surprising of all is that the Sheriff's seal has not been set on the front door of every business house in Bellefonte. But it may come yet; indeed, it must come, unless there be a change for the better in some way or other; Bellefonte has seen its best days and those who don't want to walk out of town with their earthly possessions tied up in a bandanna trunk had better go out soon if they now have money enough to take them out.

Two more Bellefonte firms have gone to the wall. Heisler & Gross marble dealers, and J. P. Strehle, millinery. Too bad, but then the democrats carried the late election.

A Fire Steamer.

The Company building the new fire steamer for Bellefonte has notified the Logan Hose company that the machine will be completed and be shipped about the middle of next week. The committee of the Logan Hose company that has the collection of all subscriptions in hand, desire it stated that the few who have not yet paid in the amount they subscribed will be called on tomorrow, Saturday, and it is earnestly hoped they will be ready to meet the amount, as it is desired to have on hand the full amount when the steamer arrives, which will probably be about the first of week after next.

The company will bring it here and give it a thorough test before it need be accepted. It is guaranteed to throw two streams over the highest church steeple in town, this will be tried; it is guaranteed to throw a stream two thousand feet distant and up two hundred feet; this will be tested from the race up High street. In fact the engine will be tried in all parts of the town. This will be a grand protection in case of a fire and the property owners of Bellefonte should come down handsomely with the cash.

"The Milesburg Dramatic Club will appear in Bogg's Hall, Milesburg, on Saturday evening, December 20th, in the original sensational drama, in three acts, entitled, "Boarder Land."

The Milesburg Dramatic Club is composed of eleven persons, all but two residents of Milesburg; the other two are Bellefonters. During last winter the club gave several entertainments and the merits of all were par excellence. There is considerable theatrical talent in the club and constant practice and frequent rehearsal has given the members a status in the profession that does not seem at all amateurish. The play selected for their first entertainment this season is one that we have no hesitation in predicting will be very entertaining.

Wanted to Change Shoes.

It is related of a horse at Janesville, Wis., noted for his intelligence, that during a recent storm, finding that his shoes were too smooth for comfort during a slippery trip, he pushed the barn door open and started on a steady trot for the blacksmith's. Once in the shop he stood back and waited his turn as decorously as though "going-a-shopping" on his own hook was an every day occurrence. Finally one of the men brought out his tools and began tapping on the four-footed customer's shoes as though putting on a new set. The animal showed unmistakable signs of approval, and when the hammering was finished trotted out and made his way home, perfectly contented.

At the Opera House Wednesday Night.

The most meritorious performance that has been given in Pittsburgh for a long while is that of 'Fabio Romani,' by Aiden Benedict's company this week. Large audiences witnessed both representations yesterday, and went away delighted. The play is a very good one, and the company fully able to render a pleasing version of it. Walter Lawrence in the double role of Fabio Romani and Conte Cæsar Oliva, has a manly presence and powerful voice, which is well modulated. He is an excellent hero, while Miss Frances Field's Nina is the weak, faithless woman the author intended. John Fay Palmer as the false friend, Guido Ferrari leaves an unpleasant impression on one's mind, he is so true to nature, and plays the insiduous and illegal lover so well, The rest of the company is well chosen, and the scenic and mechanical apparatus very pretentious and well worth seeing.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Why Not in Bellefonte.

Where is Bellefonte's Chief Burgess? Does he not know there is an ordinance compelling property owners to keep the pavements in front of their property clear of snow and ice? If he doesn't know it he should be so informed and if he does know it why don't he see that the same is enforced? In Altoona, Tyrone, Lock Haven, Williamsport, and all our neighboring towns, the authorities have compelled parties to keep their pavements clean. If they have neglected or refused to shovel off the snow and ice the street commissioner removed it and pay for same collected from the property owner.

In a town like Bellefonte, when a person can't travel the length of any one street without going up and down one hill, and in some cases, half a dozen hills, it is more than ever necessary to have clean pavements. Isn't the pedestrian in Bellefonte worthy the same consideration as foot passengers in other towns? Let the ordinance be enforced: Compel the removal of all ice and snow so that life and limb be not endangered simply through the carelessness or laziness of property owners.

Literary Notes.

In the New York Ledger of November 29, Robert Grant begins a brilliant and entertaining social satire under the title of "Mrs. Harold Stagg." The story is told with the amusing and quiet cleverness which has made the author's reputation, and contains many striking ideas which will cause Society's backbone to creep. Like "The Anglomaniacs," it places its heroine under a cross-fire from a wealthy swell and a talented youth to fame and fortune unknown—a situation which allows Mr. Grant a coveted opportunity to bombard New York society.

—Central Pennsylvania soft coalminers in the counties of Centre, Clearfield and Cambria, Blair, Bedford, Huntingdon and Jefferson meet in convention at Altoona next Wednesday to consider the proposition to establish a fund to pay the wages of checkweigman of the mines and to vote on the advisability of demanding a general advance in the price of mining on January 1. The convention will be one of the most important ever held, as a strike, if ordered, would affect 20,000 men. It would also seriously interfere with ocean steamships, the bulk of seaboard coal mined coming from that district.

The Columbia Cycle Calendar.

By far the most valuable business calendar for 1891, and entirely unique in design, is the Columbia Cycle Calendar and Stand, issued by the Pope Mfg. Co., of Boston, Mass. The Calendar is in the form of a pad containing 366 leaves, each 5½x2¾ inches, each leaf containing blank for memoranda, and as the leaves are only fastened at the upper end, any leaf can be exposed, no stub being left when the leaves are torn off. The pad rests upon a stand, containing pen rack and pencil holder, and made of stained wood, mounted with raised letters in brass, thus forming an ornamental paper weight. The day of the week and the day of the year, together with the number of days to come are given, and each slip bears a short paragraph pertaining to cycling and kindred subjects. These paragraphs have been carefully collected from leading publications and prominent writers, the larger number having been specially written for this purpose. Although this is the sixth issue of the Calendar, all the matter is fresh and new, comprising notable events in cycling, opinions of physicians and clergymen, hints about road making, and numerous other topics.
